I wish to thank everyone who has sent me info on my Bonham line. On my Mother's line. They intermarry with families have already done so may have to go to other family books for info.

I started doing genealogy in 1969 and all my grand parents were gone but had other members of their's could get info from. Otherwise I worked at the court house and library and cemeteries to find info that I could.

I with others spent many a week at the Ft. Wayne, IN library, Salt Lake City library, Madison, WI library and many hours at Columbia, MO library just about every year from when I started. There was 4 of us who went to Iowa City every month during the good weather but now one has moved, one has passed and the other can't get out any longer and no fun to go by your self. So decided it was time to stop. This was before the internet so didn't have that to rely on but was just as well as have found a lot of wrong info on the internet. (I can't say mine is all right either) As much of it was not able to be proven for sure so just had to go by what we could find. But if anyone has proof of what you find is wrong in any of my books I would appreciate knowing it. We know every one is not 100% right as no one is perfect, even in research. New Data June 2017-GLT

So hope these books will be appreciated and enjoyed as much as I had putting them together. But I think now is the time to turn them over to someone else to enjoy as I can't get to the libraries any longer and only the internet to rely on and that isn't as much fun as going to the places where your ancestor's walked themselves.

You will notice different address's but the one above is correct.

THE BONHAM FAMILY

PART I

DIRECT LINE RECORDS

(Only one person to each generation carries forward the direct line of ancestry. All others are transferred to Part II and considered as collaterals.)

NICHOLAS¹ BONHAM

The origin of the name is French, "Bonhomme." Orra Eugene Monnette* cites Bardsley, p. 527, where William "Bonhomme" of the Hundred Rolls in the year 1234 is listed with Agnes "Bonhomme"; states that a Jean Bonhomme was listed in New York City as of French origin in the year 1690; and that on an old map of France by Johnson dated 1620, in the old province of Picardia northeast of Saint Quentin, is to be found a town named Bonham. The date of birth of Nicholas Bonham has not been found in New England records. Whether in the mother country or in New England he must have been born soon after 1630, for the year of his wife's birth was 1636 and they were married at Barnstable, Massachusetts, on January 1, 1658/9. Perhaps he was related to George Bonham of Plymouth Colony who came from England to America in 1635 and of whom, by years, he could well have been a son. (See Appendix, page 175.)

His wife was Hannah Fuller, the daughter born in the year 1636 at Scituate, Massachusetts, to Samuel Fuller and Jane Lathrop Fuller. The father of Hannah Fuller and her father's parents were passengers on the Mayflower when it ended its voyage at Plymouth Rock in December of the year 1620. (See Section V, the Fuller Family.) Her maternal grandfather was the very learned Reverend John Lathrop, who was pastor first at Scituate and thereafter at Barnstable, Massachusetts. (See Appendix, page 177.)

But New England was not to hold these children of its early settlement. In New Jersey was the Piscataway tract of land that received its charter December 18, 1666, from Lord Berkeley and Sir George Carteret, Proprietors, and being opened under especially favorable terms of settlement and of religious freedom attracted hosts of colonists from New England. Thither came Nicholas Bonham with his wife and family. Three children had been born to them in the years 1659-1664 at Barn-stable on Cape Cod Bay before they set out on their migration to New Jersey; three were later born at Piscataway, but for the four children born between the years 1664 and 1672 no dates of birth are known; from which fact may be inferred an intermediate period of residence for the family, perhaps on Long Island or on Staten Island, as was the case with many other of the Piscataway First Settlers who emigrated from New England.

At any rate, about the year 1669 Nicholas Bonham appears in Piscataway. In 1672 he signed the oath of allegiance there. In 1673 he was chosen a magistrate or representative to arrange local government. In 1681 he was appointed Sergeant. When the First Baptist Church of Piscataway was organized in 1689(?) he was a member of the consistory,* whose full membership was:

Hugh Dunn
Edmund Dunham
John Smalley
John Drake
Nicholas Bonham
John Fitz Randolph

Nicholas Bonham died July the 20th, 1684, and his wife died in 1685. It is said no tombstone remains in Piscataway Township to his memory or that of any who bear his name. But a memorial that has endured is the town of Bonhamton that perpetuates his fame. It is a small town near Perth Amboy that has an historic background of some two hundred and fifty years of survival and is named after its founder.

Abstract of His Will

(Drawn Feb. 6, 1683; probated Dec. 18, 1684.)

Nicholas Bonham of the town of Piscataway in the County of Middlesex in East New Jersey. To wife, Hannah, the house and lot "where I now live" for her life; and after her death to son Hezekiah. Hannah to support testator's children and give dowers when they marry. Small legacies to grandchildren—names not given.

Executors: wife, Hannah son, Hezekiah.

Whitehead, Contributions to the Early History of Perth Amboy and Adjoining County (1856), and by James F. Brown, History of the First Baptist Church of Piscataway (1899). As Nicholas Bonham died in 1684 either 1689 is wrong for the date of founding of this church or not Nicholas Bonham's name but that of a son should be included in this list.—O. B. R.

HEZEKIAH² BONHAM

Son of Nicholas¹ Bonham and his wife Hannah Fuller, Hezekiah was born some time between 1664, the year of birth of his sister Sarah at Barnstable, Massachusetts, and 1672, the year of birth of his brother, Samuel, at Piscataway, New Jersey. He married in 1690, Mary Dunn (1671-Nov. 7, 1699), a daughter of Hugh Dunn, and his wife, Elizabeth Drake (dau. Francis). Mary Dunn was his first wife and mother of his first four children. Hezekiah though apparently still of minor age when his father died in 1684 was appointed coexecutor with his mother of the father's estate. In the New Jersey Archives we find his name figuring frequently. In 1694 he is named in the will of his father-in-law, Hugh Dunn. In 1695 he receives a patent for 100 acres of land at Piscataway. In 1697 he is confirmed in the rights of his late father to several parcels of land. From 1696 to 1698 he and his wife, Mary, four times give deeds for the transfer of property.

A legend runs that he was in a manner responsible for the formation of Piscataway's Seventh Day Baptist sect. Once when, in the act of performing some menial task on Sunday, he was admonished by his brother-in-law, the Reverend Edmund Dunham, husband of his sister, Mary, Hezekiah, giving battle, required of him proof that the first day of the week was holy by divine institution. After long and prayerful examination of the point Mr. Dunham renounced observance of the first in favor of the seventh day of the week as Sabbath, receiving the Fourth Commandment as an unchangeable law. Edmund Dunham became founder of the Seventh Day Baptist Church at Piscataway, the second church of this denomination in America.

Sometime after the death of his first wife in 1699 Hezekiah seems to have moved to Maidenhead (now Lawrenceville), New Jersey, where in 1698/9 we find Hezekiah Bonham, Senior, joining with others in the purchase of lands. The name of his second wife was Ann Hunt (Monette, p. 588, vol. IV), by whom he had some fifteen children, added to the first four. The sons were called the "iah" Bonhams because of their Biblical names.

In Snell's History of Hunterdon County the name of Hezekiah Bonham appears on the list of justices for the year 1723. The date of his death and the place of his burial are unknown.

URIAH³ BONHAM

The date of birth of this, probably the youngest, son of Hezekiah² Bonham is unknown. Uriah left a will probated in the year 1809 which serves to establish the approximate date of his death. His first wife and mother of his children was a daughter of George Fox, the elder, and bore the curious name of Anchor. His second wife was named Magdalene.

James P. Snell on page 397 of his History of Hunterdon County says that, "In 1763—how much earlier is not known—Uriah Bonham was in the neighborhood of Kingwood Town, Kingwood Township, Hunterdon County, where his brother, Reverend Malachiah Bonham was preaching, doing service as a school teacher. He married Anche,* a daughter of George Fox, the elder."

Inasmuch as Uriah's name appears in witness to the will of John Ruckman of Hunterdon County in the year 1749 his presence in the same general neighborhood is indicated at least as early as that date. There are numerous other traces of the passage through life of this school teacher who later turned planter. In 1799 he was witness to the will of William⁴ Rittenhouse, father of his son Amos' wife. In 1795 he served in making inventory of the estate of his son-in-law John⁴ Sutton, of Kingwood Township. A specimen of his firm, clear handwriting may be seen in the Bible of John and Dinah Sutton, for whom he wrote the family records, inscribing sideways along the margin: "Written by Uriah Bonham." In the Sutton family a large walnut cupboard, now owned by Miss Ida Sutton Leigh of Sergeantsville, was once the property of Uriah Bonham.

There is a family legend that the first wife of Uriah Bonham was born upon the water. The vessel was anchored during the time of birth of the child; whence the origin of her name. (See Section VI, the Fox Family.) It is interesting to note that five granddaughters were named Anchor after her.

The Will of Uriah Bonham

The will of Uriah Bonham is lengthy and of considerable genealogic value. It was drawn May 24, 1803; probated May 4, 1809. His residence is given as Township of Kingwood, County of Hunterdon and State of New Jersey. To Magdalene, his beloved wife, he leaves the whole and sole privilege and use of his dwelling house and ten-plate stove, together with his whole plantation for her maintenance; and the use of as much household furniture as she shall think necessary for convenient, decent housekeeping, during the term she remains his widow. Outright he leaves to her and her heirs, one milch cow, one feather bed, three good chairs and one blue chest. After deviseement to his two sons, Amos and Zedekiah Bonham, of his wearing apparel, to be equally di-

*Abbreviation for Anchor, as explained later in the present sketch.

MARY³ BONHAM

Born at Piscataway, New Jersey, Oct. 4, 1691; dau. Hezekiah² and his first wife, Mary Dunn; m. about 1712 Daniel Howell, a blacksmith of Trenton. Howell left a will drawn Aug. 30, 1725, probated Aug. 2, 1732, which gives names of ten children. The youngest child was named Hezekiah. Also mentioned in the will is a bond due from Hezekiah Bonham of Maidenhead. Items of other than genealogic interest in the inventory of this estate are: a negro man, called Jack, about 50 years of age, who is appraised at £20; a negro woman and her child, appraised at £40.

SAMUEL³ BONHAM

Born at Piscataway, New Jersey, Feb. 6, 1693; s. Hezekiah² Bonham and his first wife, Mary Dunn. Monnette says: "He was a creditor in the estate of John Heath of Amwell, Hunterdon County, in the years 1724, 1729 (Archives XXIII, p. 220). He was a debtor, 1732, to the estate of John Severns of Trenton, together with Zedekiah, Jeremiah and Nehemiah Bonham, his brothers." No further record.

HANNAH³ BONHAM

Born at Piscataway, New Jersey, March 14, 1695; dau. Hezekiah² and his first wife, Mary Dunn; m. Benjamin Stout, b. 1696, s. Jonathan²—Richard¹ (from Compendium of American Genealogy). For further record see Stout family genealogy.

SARAH³ BONHAM

Born at Piscataway, New Jersey, Feb. 14, 1698; dau. Hezekiah² and his first wife, Mary Dunn; m. Thomas Runyan, Junior, g. son Vincent¹. They lived in Hopewell, New Jersey, adjoining the Bonham family there.

HEZEKIAH³ BONHAM

The first one of the so-called "iah" Bonhams*, sons of Hezekiah² and his second wife, Ann Hunt. He is listed in 1722 on the tax rolls of Hopewell, Hunterdon County (Snell's History, p. 185), as follows: Hezekiah Bonham, Junior—cattle and horses, 5; acres, 150. He married Martha Runyan, dau. Thomas Runyan, Senior, and g. dau. Vincent¹ Compare Appendix, page 176, for recurrence of name in a later generation.

NEHEMIAH³ BONHAM

s. Hezekiah²; m. (1) Ann Stout (b. 1704, dau. Jonathan²—Richard¹, and sister of Benjamin Stout who married her husband's half-sister, Hannah³ above); m. (2) Elizabeth Martin (dau. Benjamin). Nehemiah Bonham also is listed in Snell's History, p. 185, on the Hopewell tax rolls of the year 1722. In 1754 he was a witness along with his brother Malachiah, the minister, to the will of George Fox of Kingwood, Hunterdon County. His daughter, Mercy Bonham, m. Vincent Runyan (ca. 1701-1771), son of Thomas and grandson of Vincent¹ Runyan. Among this couple's children were: Bonham Runyan; Vincent, John, and Absalom Runyan. (Monnette IV, p. 628.)

ZACHARIAH³ BONHAM

s. Hezekiah²; m. Patience Ayers, dau. James and Phoebe Ayers. Compare Appendix, page 176, for recurrence of names Ayers and Bonham at a later period.

ZEDEKIAH³ BONHAM

s. Hezekiah²; m. (1) Sarah Compton, dau. Jonathan; m. (2) Ann Martin, sister of Elizabeth Martin who married his brother Nehemiah. By his first wife he had a daughter, Sarah, who on Oct. 7, 1746, in the Seventh Day Baptist Church at Piscataway married Malachi Fitz Randolph. They in turn had a son, Zedekiah Fitz Randolph. By the second wife he had two daughters, Zerujah and Katrin.

Abstract of His Will

(Drawn 1757; probated Jan. 21, 1761.)

Zedekiah Bonham of Piscataway Township, Middlesex County. To wife, Anna Bonham, 1/3 estate and the goods she brought with her; she to bring up testator's children, Zerujah Bonham and Katrin Bonham. Grandson, Zedekiah Fitz Randolph, son of Malachii and Sarah Fitz Randolph, also inherits.

*For most facts regarding the "iah" Bonhams, the author is indebted to First Settlers of Piscataway and Woodbridge, by Orra Eugene Monnette and to The Smith-Bonham Family, by Emmet L. Smith, M.D.

Executors: Wife and Jeremiah Dunn
Witnesses: James, Benjamin and Peter Martin.

AMARIAH³ BONHAM

s. Hezekiah². He was first at Piscataway and later at Hopewell. Probably married, says Monnette, into the Drake family. In Lib. F 2 of deeds at Trenton, page 114, Amariah Bonham, yeoman of Piscataway, Middlesex County, and Mary M. Bonham on June 29, 1743, deed property to Richard Taylor. This is probably the same property which on the preceding day, June 28, 1743, the Executors of the estate of Peter Sutton (wife Sarah) of Piscataway had deeded to Amariah Bonham of Amwell, Hunterdon County.

TEMPERANCE³ BONHAM

Born at Maidenhead (now Lawrenceville) New Jersey, in 1710; dau. Hezekiah² Bonham; m. in the year 1728 Zebulon Ayres (b. Aug. 14, 1708, s. James and Phoebe Ayers of Woodbridge). The husband was brother to Patience Ayers who married Temperance's brother Zachariah Bonham.

MALACHIAH³ BONHAM

(1713-1789), s. Hezekiah² Bonham. He was also called Malachi. m. (1) Jemima Harken; (2) Hannah Buckingham Heath (a widow); (3) Mary Fox, widow or daughter of George Fox, the elder. In the year 1749 the Reverend Malachiah Bonham was ordained pastor of the Kingwood Baptist Church in Hunterdon County; in which capacity he is said to have served till the year 1757. As the next pastor was the Reverend David Sutton who officiated March 26, 1764-Aug. 3, 1783 (Snell), it seems quite possible that Malachiah Bonham continued to minister there longer than the church record indicates. Numerous other records attest both his early and his later continued presence in Kingwood Township. In 1754 he was witness to the will of George Fox of Kingwood; to the will of a second George Fox of Kingwood in the year 1760; and on January 28, 1763, Absalom Bonham of the Township of Kingwood, County of Hunterdon, in West New Jersey, and Malachiah Bonham in the same place, were appointed guardians to Cornelius Harken, an infant of seventeen years, child of James Harken, late of the County of Sussex, deceased.—The boy was no doubt either brother or nephew of Malachiah Bonham's first wife. Again, Snell on page 397 of his History of Hunterdon and Somerset Counties indicates that Malachiah Bonham was preaching at Kingwood in the year 1763. The statement is made in connection with the records of the presence of his brother Uriah in that township. (See page 109.)

For dates of birth and death we are indebted to a record of the Kingwood Baptist Church which states that he died in 1789, aged seventy-six years.

Children of Malachi and Jemima Bonham

I. Zerviah (Question: Did she marry a Sutton, perhaps, and become mother of Mala'h or Malachi Sutton who is recorded under Rangers of the Frontiers, 1778-1783, in the Pennsylvania Archives, 3d series, vol. XXIII, pp. 324 and 326 for Westmoreland County).

II. Daniel.

III. Absalom, b. at Bonhamton, New Jersey, 1739; d. Oct. 4, 1794, at Lincolnton, North Carolina. He is probably the Absalom Bonham recorded in Heitman's Official Register as ensign, second lieutenant and afterwards first lieutenant, Continental troops, Jersey Line, in the Revolutionary War. There are descendants in the South, in the West, and in Pennsylvania. (See Smith-Bonham Family, by E. L. Smith.)

AMAZIAH³ BONHAM

s. Hezekiah²; b. in 1713, at Maidenhead. Also called Amos; m. in 1734, Rebecca Rittenhouse, in Randolph Township, Morris County, New Jersey (Monnette).

JEREMIAH³ BONHAM

s. Hezekiah²; b. in 1715. Became a well known citizen at Shrewsbury, New Jersey. In that place on May 24, 1758, was married a Jeremiah Bonham to Margaret Cock, both of Shrewsbury (New Jersey Archives, First Series, vol. XXII). This may have been a son.

EPHRAIM³ BONHAM

s. Hezekiah². (1716-1785). m. (1) Elizabeth Morris; m. (2) Susanah Jones and had thirteen children who drifted westward. Names of children with dates of birth appear in Smith-Bonham Genealogy.

JOSIAH³ BONHAM

ISAAH³ BONHAM

OBADIAH³ BONHAM

Apparently sons of Hezekiah². The three names appear in the Smith-Bonham Genealogy.

ZEPHAMIA³ BONHAM

s. Hezekiah². His family went westward.

MARY⁴ BONHAM

W. 1836; dau. Uriah³ Bonham and his wife, Anchor Fox; m. James Emans. Both left wills as follows:

Her Husband's Will

(Probated Dec. 18, 1810.)

Emans, James; Township of Kingwood, County of Hunterdon. $1,000. to wife, Mary Emans, and choice of personal property and use of proceeds of residue of personal estate. Five sons: John, Amos, Uriah, Job, and James. Daughters—mentioned here; named later in will.

"To the surviving children of my eldest daughter, Sarah Rittenhouse,* lately deceased, I give and bequeath 1/14th part of the residue of my estate, equal to what would have been their mother's share, each of her sons to have 2 shares and each of her daughters 1 share.

"To my second daughter, Hannah Rittenhouse, I give and bequeath $50. besides her equal share with my other daughters, Dinah Foxe, and Mary Bird."

Executrix: Mary Emans, wife

Executor: "My trusty friend and neighbor, Uriah Sutton."

Executor: Uriah Sutton, nephew.

Children of James and Mary^a Bonham Emans
(Ten in number.)

- I. John Emans.
- II. Amos Emans.
- III. Uriah Emans—named also in will of Uriah^a Bonham.
- IV. Job Emans.
- V. James Emans.
- VI. Anchor Emans—died between 1803 and 1810. She is named in will of her grandfather, but not in her father's will.
- VII. Sarah Emans, b. July 1, 1775; m. March 22, 1794, William^a Rittenhouse; d. shortly before 1810.
- VIII. Hannah Emans, m. Dec. 30, 1809, Samuel Rittenhouse, s. Isaac^a; of whom she was the second wife.
- IX. Dinah Emans, still living in 1830 when her mother's will was drawn; m. Edward Foxe. Apparently her husband was son of the earlier Edward and Dinah Foxe buried at Rosemont whose dates are respectively: March 3, 1752-May 26, 1816, and Aug. 4, 1758-Nov. 8, 1818. Another grave in the plot must be that of their grandson, and son of the Edward and Dinah of this record. The inscription is:

John S. Fox

son of Edward and Dinah

Died June 19, 1852

in the 30th year of his age.

X. Mary Emans, m. Bird.

HANNAH^a BONHAM

dau. Uriah^a and his wife, Anchor Fox; m. Job Emans. Among their children were Uriah Emans and Anchor Emans, who are named in the will of their grandfather, Uriah Bonham.

ZEDEKIAH^a BONHAM

s. Uriah^a and his wife Anchor Fox. He was living in 1803 when his father's will was drawn; in which are named two of his children Andrew and Anchor ~~Emans~~. His wife was probably Prudence, daughter of Andrew Heath. (See name in will of Uriah^a Bonham.) A Zedekiah Bonham served as a private from Hunterdon County in the Revolutionary War (Stryker's Manual, p. 513). As Zedekiah^a, son of Hezekiah^a, seems to have had no son, the Revolutionary soldier was no doubt the subject of this sketch.

AMBROSE^a BONHAM

(March 14, 1782-Feb. 11, 1863), s. Amos^a and his wife, Rebecca Rittenhouse; m. Anna Lair. (She may be buried in Ohio; her grave is not at Rosemont beside that of her husband.)

Their children

- I. John (1813-Jan. 18, 1865); m. Nov. 5, 1836, Rebecca Everitt (May 21, 1815-Oct. 26, 1884). They lived at Rosemont, where both are buried; along with a minor son named Ellis (Sept. 23, 1838-Oct. 16, 1856).
- II. William L., b. 1815, in Hunterdon County, New Jersey; m. July 1, 1837, Rebecca Rittenhouse, dau. Daniel^s (see p. 53). In 1838 they moved to Montgomery County, Ohio, and thence onward in 1841 to Gordon, Darke County, Ohio.

Children of II:

1. Harrison, b. 1840. He was in Company B, 110 Ohio V. I., 1862-5.
2. Sarah.
3. Martha J.

URIAH^a BONHAM

(1783-Aug. 25, 1851), s. Amos^a and his wife Rebecca Rittenhouse; m. Feb. 5, 1818, Elizabeth Event (1791-Oct. 3, 1856). They are buried at Rosemont.

Children of Uriah^a and Elizabeth Bonham

- I. Everitt; m. Fannie Barcroft. (No response from this family to request for data. The following record is from Sarah Jane Sutton.)

Children of I:

- 1, 1. Martha Elizabeth; m. Peter I. Rittenhouse. Two children.
- 1, 2. Stacy; m. Margaret Kugler. No children.
- 1, 3. Mary Ann; m. Theodore Cullen. Residence: Rosemont, New Jersey. Four or five children.
- 1, 4. William; m. Bird.

II. Mary Ann

III. Rebecca

IV. Amy

V. Moses.

Named in the will of their aunt, Rebecca^a Bonham. (See page 120.)

ANNA⁵ BONHAM

m. Uriah⁵ Sutton. (See the Sutton Family, p. 9.)

WILLIAM⁵ BONHAM

(1787/8-March 11, 1872), s. Amos⁴ and his wife, Rebecca Rittenhouse; m. (1) Deutilly . . (d. Apr. 18, 1816, in nineteenth year of her age); m. (2) March 24, 1819, in the Old School Baptist Church, Ann Warford. He is buried beside his first wife at Rosemont. Portraits of William Bonham and of his son, J. Ellis Bonham, appear in this volume. The latter served in the Pennsylvania House of Representatives from Cumberland County in the year 1852. He is named in the will of his aunt, Rebecca⁵ Bonham. He was unmarried.

AMOS⁵ BONHAM, JUNIOR

(Oct. 13, 1789-Aug. 14, 1830), s. Amos⁴ and his wife, Rebecca Rittenhouse; m. Rebecca Laquear.

He died at the age of forty years and is buried at Rosemont. His wife is buried elsewhere. They had one son:

1. William Bonham (1818/9-July 17, 1857) who married Sept. 7, 1850, his first cousin, Elizabeth Bonham (1828/9-May 20, 1861), dau. John⁵ Bonham.

Children of I:

1. Anastasia; m. . . . Barcroft.
2. John William (May 28, 1856-Aug. 28, 1857); died shortly after his father.

ANCHOR⁵ BONHAM

(Nov. 8, 1790-Jan. 2, 1829), dau. Amos⁴ and his wife, Rebecca Rittenhouse; unm. Buried at Rosemont.

REBECCA⁵ BONHAM

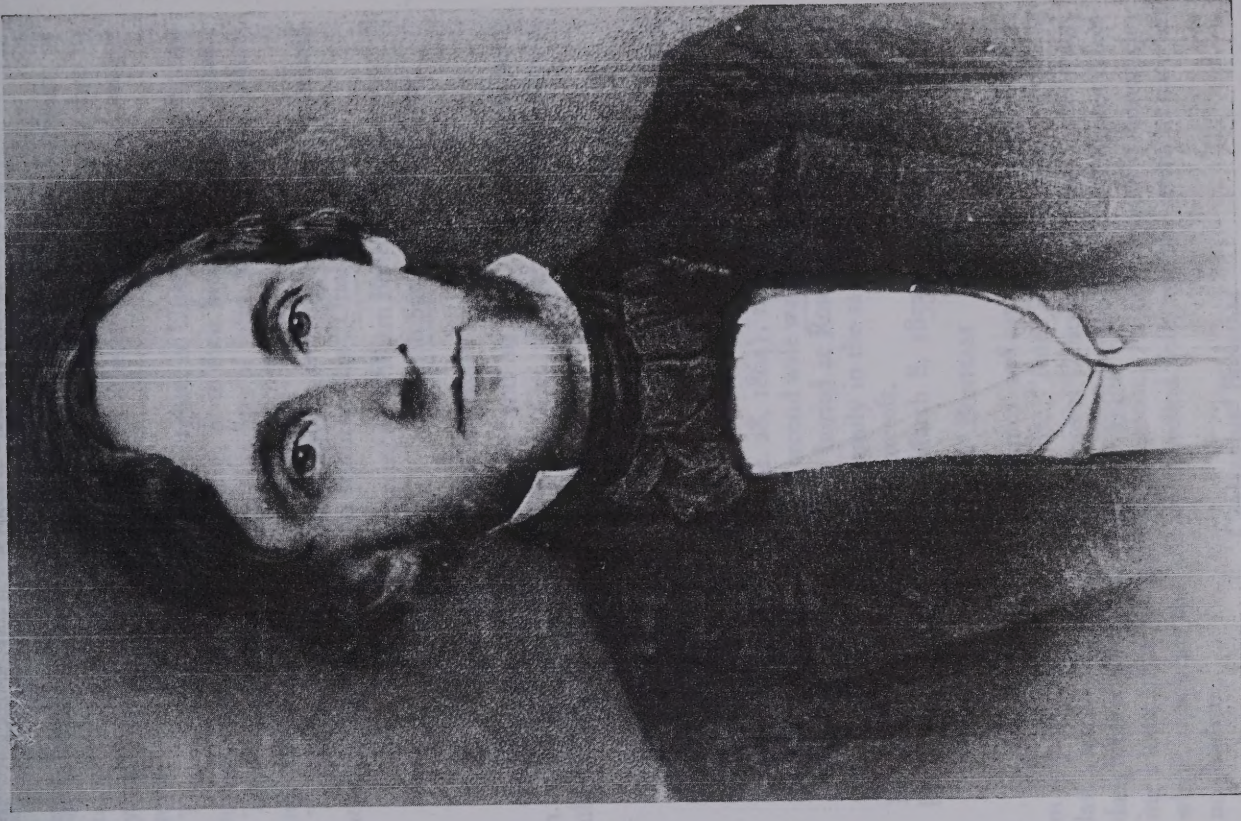

(1794/5-Dec. 20, 1847), dau. Amos⁴ and his wife, Rebecca Rittenhouse; unm. Buried at Rosemont. She left a will replete with family names:

Abstract of Will

(Drawn Jan. 5, 1843; probated Feb. 3, 1848.)

To brothers, Ambrose Bonham and Uriah Bonham and to sisters, Mary Robertson, formerly Mary Bonham, and Catharine Rittenhouse,* formerly Catharine Bonham.

$400. to brother, William Bonham; or to his son, J. Ellis Bonham; or "in case of my surviving both said William and J. Ellis Bonham, then to my well beloved brother-in-law, Uriah Sutton, and his heirs and assigns forever."

To niece, Mary Ann Bonham, daughter of Uriah, $100.; or to her two younger sisters, Rebecca and Amy; or to their brother, Moses Bonham.

To niece Elizabeth Bonham, daughter of John, $100.; or to her sisters Amy and Mary Jane; or to their brother, George Bonham.

To sister, Anna, wife of Uriah Sutton, wearing apparel and household furniture. All rest of estate to brother-in-law, Uriah Sutton.

Executors: William Bonham, brother
Uriah Sutton, brother-in-law.

JOHN⁵ BONHAM

(1797/8-Feb. 15, 1839), s. Amos⁴ and his wife, Rebecca Rittenhouse; m. in the Old School Baptist Church, Oct. 18, 1827, Mary Bye (1803/4-July 22, 1851). Both are buried at Rosemont.

Their children

I. Elizabeth (1828/9-May 20, 1861), m. Sept. 7, 1850, her first cousin, William Bonham, s. Amos⁶. They had two children as given previously.

II. Amy (Nov. 15, 1832-Apr. 28, 1864), m. Oct. 4, 1851, Isaac M. Keyser (1829-1913). His second wife was Mary Ann Sutton, dau. John⁶, beside whom he is buried at Rosemont. The first wife is buried with the Bonham family in the same cemetery.

III. Mary Jane; m. Thomas Barcroft.

IV. George (March 5, 1831-March 8, 1853). Buried at Rosemont.

MARY⁵ BONHAM

(1798/9-Nov. 5, 1881), dau. Amos⁴ and his wife Rebecca Rittenhouse; m. Jan. 26, 1841, Thomas Roberson. "Aunt Polly Roberson," spent her last years in Locktown with her nieces Deutilly and Mary Ann Sutton, daughters of Uriah⁵, in their home opposite the Old School Baptist Meeting House. She is buried at Rosemont. As her husband is buried elsewhere, it appears that she was a second wife, and she seems to have left no children.

CATHARINE⁵ BONHAM

(Sept. 9, 1802-March 19, 1864), dau. Amos⁴ and his wife Rebecca Rittenhouse; m. Dec. 28, 1826, Daniel Bray Rittenhouse (Apr. 16, 1798-

March 30, 1859, s. Edward⁶. (See Rittenhouse Record, p. 54.) They are buried at Rosemont.

ZEDEKIAH⁵ BONHAM

(d. in infancy Aug. 2, 1816), s. Amos⁴ and his wife, Rebecca Rittenhouse. Buried at Rosemont. Stone badly weathered.

Re. BONHAM COAT OF ARMS

I am not qualified to write on the subject of Heraldry, but am glad to pass along such information as I have gathered regarding the Bonham Coat of Arms. My information is that Coat of Arms originally were to be displayed on shields so as to distinguish friend from foe in battle. Prior to 1417, a Coat of Arms was available to anyone, regardless of character, for a fee.

During the reign of Henry V (1417) a Royal Proclamation was made that no man in the future be allowed to bear Arms (Coat of Arms) without authority.

The College of Arms or Heralds College was organized in 1483 to handle matters pertaining to Coats of Arms. After that only persons of good character and standing were permitted to receive or to retain Coats of Arms. The most successful of the methods for regularizing the use of Arms was by Visitations (official visits or inspection). Heraldic officers, under royal authority, made systematic tours and all who used Arms were summoned to establish their right. Such visitations may have been made before the 16th Century, but records begin with 1528-29, and continue at intervals of about 30 years (one generation) until 1686. Original records in possession of College of Arms have not been published.

A. C. Fox-Davies in 'Armorial Families' an authority, quotes: "In a few cases where the Arms are found on the early rolls, it is possible to take an old Coat back approximately to its date of origin, but in the bulk of English cases, one can do no more than refer to the Visitations, which may or may not be the date of origin."

When a Coat of Arms was granted only a description was given, the artist then selected, added leaves, flowers, ribbons and other embellishments which generally have no significance but are purely ornamental. The principal charges are within the face of the shield. It is customary to represent the Arms as placed on a shield, but this is not necessary. After all, a Coat of Arms was not shaped like a shield and as the Coat of Arms was displayed on all kinds of objects, they had to be adapted to the shape. Nevertheless, it is better to keep to the natural form of a shield for general purposes.

Crests outside a shield do have a meaning and are usually separate grants or awards. Motto is not part of the Coat of Arms and is not inheritable, except at will.

The helmet is placed over a Coat of Arms and by the metal from which it is made denotes the rank of the person whose arms are beneath it.

Helmets of sovereigns are formed of burnished gold.

Princes and Peers are silver.

Knights, Esquires and Gentlemen are polished steel.

The closed helmet in profile is for esquires and gentlemen. The helmet is not specifically granted and is a matter of inherent right so that a person would not be wrong in placing a helmet above a shield.

I found several Bonham Coat of Arms in the Libraries throughout the country. I made no attempt to determine when or why a Coat of Arms was granted. Rather I was interested only in finding which Coat of Arms the American branch of Bonhams were entitled to use.

NEHEMIAH (4) BONHAM LINE

This line has proved to be one of the most controversial of the many Bonham lines.

This can be traced principally to an error in the N. J. Archives records which are in most all the genealogical libraries in the world. The will of Benjamin Martin of Piscataway, N. J., the father of Elizabeth Martin, the second wife of Nehemiah Bonham, is on file in the office of the Clerk of Superior Court of N. J. and in good condition. The N. J. Archives in the abstract of the Benjamin Martin will give the names of the children of Nehemiah Bonham and Elizabeth Martin as Benjamin and Nehemiah, which is in error. They are Benjamin and Hezekiah.

Due to its age, the Clerk's office was reluctant to permit this will to be examined and to have photostatic copies made, rather they insisted on supplying a certified copy which was incorrect. However, a photostatic copy was obtained and on the following page is a photo of that section of the photostat of the will that clearly shows that the Archives records are not correct.

Note the peculiar form of the letter E in Benjamin, Hezekiah and Jersey. This style must have prevalence as we have found the same style elsewhere.

Another reason to discount the abstract records giving the name of Nehemiah to one of the sons, is that Nehemiah already had a son Nehemiah by his first wife, Ann Stout, and it is doubtful that he would give two sons the same name.

After such misinformation is once in print, especially by such authority as the Archives, and accepted and made a part of the family line record, it is difficult to get folks to accept the truth even when shown a photo to prove the error. Hugh Bonham, deceased 12-27-1958, compiler of the Bonham chart in the Library of Congress and other libraries evidently used Archives information as being correct, wrote in 1957: Quote "I give the abstracts no absolute value for they were written long after. But the will recorded in the will book would be more legal. Thos. Bartow was probably the neighborhood will writer as was my father, could have written Hezekiah and the clerk in copying it in the will book more than likely discovered the error and corrected the error if there was one." End of quote. I can not accept the idea that the will was wrong as we have records of both Benjamin and Hezekiah, and the will was accepted by the court as written.

Another report that has been given credence is that Ann Bonham, dau. of Nehemiah was born when the mother was around sixty years of age. According to the best information that I have been able to obtain Ann Bonham dau. of Nehemiah Bonham and Ann Stout was born 8-18-1725 and died in 1769. At the time of her birth Nehemiah was about 22 years old and our records indicate that Ann Stout was about one year younger, born 1704. Ann Bonham m. Benjamin Reeder(neighbors in N. J.) who was born 5-20-1718 and died in 1783. This data from the Reeder family genealogical records which are most complete. No confirmation of Ann Stout's birth date.

NEHEMIAH (4) BOWMAN LINE

This line has proved to be one of the most controversial of the many Bowman lines.

This can be traced principally to an error in the M. J. Archives records which are in most all the genealogical libraries in the world. The will of Benjamin Martin of Falmouth, N. J., the father of Elizabeth Martin, the second wife of Nehemiah Bowman, is on file in the office of the Clerk of Superior Court of New Jersey. The M. J. Archives in the abstract of the Bowman Martin will give the names of the children of Nehemiah Bowman and Elizabeth Martin as Benjamin and Hezekiah, which is in error. They are Hezekiah and Hezekiah.

Due to its age, the Clerk's office was reluctant to permit this will to be examined and to have photostatic copies made, rather they insisted on supplying a certified copy which was incorrect. However, a photostatic copy was obtained and on the following page is a photo of that section of the will of the Bowman Martin which shows that the Archives records are not correct.

Note the peculiar form of the letter E in Benjamin, Hezekiah and Jeremy. This style must have prevalence as we have found the same style elsewhere.

Another reason to discount the abstract records giving the name of Nehemiah in one of the sons, is that Nehemiah already had a son Nehemiah by his first wife Ann Stout, and it is doubtful that he would give two sons the same name.

After such information is given in print, especially by such authority as the Archives, and accepted and made a part of the family line record, it is difficult to get folks to accept the truth even when shown a photo to prove the error. Hugh Bowman, deceased 12-27-1828, compiler of the Bowman chart in the Library of Congress and other libraries evidently used Archives information as being correct, wrote in 1827: "Quote" I give the abstracts no absolute value for they were written long after. But the will recorded in the will book would be more legal. Thus, Hallow was probably the nephewhood will written as was my father, could have written Hezekiah and the clerk in copying it to the will book more than likely discovered the error and corrected the error. If there was one, I can not accept the idea that the will was wrong as we have records of both Benjamin and Hezekiah, and the will was accepted by the court as written.

Another report that has been given elsewhere is that Ann Bowman, dau. of Nehemiah was born when the mother was around sixty years of age. According to the best information that I have been able to obtain Ann Bowman dau. of Nehemiah Bowman and Ann Stout was born 8-18-1755 and died in 1782. At the time of her birth Nehemiah was about 22 years old and our records indicate that Ann Stout was about one year younger, born 1761. Ann Bowman or Benjamin Hezekiah dau. of N. J. who was born 2-20-1718 and died in 1783. This date from the Hecker family genealogical records which are most complete. No confirmation of Ann Stout's birth date.

GEORGE BONHAM (b 1608/9) probably in England, d. April 28, 1704, Plymouth, Mass. age 95 years. Nothing is known concerning his first wife. He married for his second wife, Dec. 20, 1644, Plymouth, Mass., Sarah Morton (b 1608 Leyden, Holland, d Aug. 25, 1691, Plymouth, Mass.) She was the daughter of George Morton and his wife, Julie Carpenter.

There was a George Bonham age 31, who passed the Port of London June 20, 1635 on the ship Phillip bound for America. If this is the same George Bonham of Plymouth then he was 99 or 100 years old at the time of his death, but probably for some reason he may have overstated his age 4 or 5 years on the ship, Phillip.

He owned land in Plymouth, Mass. before 1644, joined the local Militia Aug. 1643. Became freeman in 1657. He was surveyor of lands and highways for a number of years. In 1672 he built a house there that was known many years as the "Leach House". He was a devoted church worker, a useful, much liked and respected citizen of the colony. The Plymouth Church Records record (Vol. 1, pt. 3, p 2, 1620-1859) "George Bonum Sr. dyed April 28, 1704, 95 years old" and in the same record (p 9) "April 28, 1704 dyed our brother, George Bonum, he lived to a good old age, he was a man about all men spoke well of and is gone to receive his crown."

LINE OF DESCENT BY FIRST WIFE

FULLER, ROBERT a butcher no further records.

FULLER, EDWARD, of Redenhall Parish, County of Norfolk, England. He was baptized at Redenhall Church Sept. 4, 1575, d at Plymouth, Mass. between Jan. 11 and April 10, 1621. His wife Ann died after Jan. 11, 1621, Plymouth, Mass. Edward Fuller with his wife Ann, and their son Samuel, came to America on the Mayflower. Edward Fuller was the 21st signer of the Mayflower Company.

LATHROP, REV. JOHN, married Hannah House, a daughter of John House.
LATHROP, JANE, married Samuel Fuller.

FULLER, SAMUEL, (b 1612 England d Oct. 23 or Nov. 10, 1683, Barnstable, Mass.) He married April 8-18, 1635, Sistuate, Mass. Jane Lathrop, (b Sept. 19, 1614 Egerby, County Kent, England. d 1658-63). He came with his parents on the Mayflower when he was about 10 years old. After the death of his parents he was raised by his uncle, Dr. Samuel Fuller. In the will of Samuel Fuller, dated Oct. 20, 1683, he made bequests to daughter "Hannah Bonham - four pounds in money and two cows."

FULLER, HANNAH, married Nicholas Bonham.

BONHAM, NICHOLAS, (1628-31, probably England d July 20, 1684; Piscataway, Middlesex Co. New Jersey. He married Jan. 1, 1658, Barnstable, Mass. Hannah Fuller (b 1630 Plymouth, Mass. d 1689, Piscataway, New Jersey. Nicholas was admitted to citizen of Barnstable, Mass. Oct. 3, 1662 as "a son of a present inhabitant." He moved from Barnstable, Mass. to Piscataway, N.J. about 1666. He took the oath of allegiance to the Dutch Government in 1672. He was elected magistrate for the Piscataway District Aug. 26, 1671. He was sworn in as Magistrate Sept. 15, 1673. In 1676 he received warrant for land in Woodbridge, N.J. There is no record that he ever lived there. On Sept. 10 1678 he received a grant of land of 122 acres. It was on this grant of land that he formed the settlement known as "Bonhamtown", in Middlesex Co. N.J. which has been a thriving community down to the present time. (1941) He was Sergeant in a Military organization under Capt. Drake. On Nov. 9, 1681

GEORGE BOWMAN (b. 1808?) probably in England, d. April 28, 1894, Plymouth, Mass., age 85 years. Nothing is known concerning his first wife. He married for his second wife, Dec. 30, 1844, Plymouth, Mass., Sarah Morton (b. 1808, Leyden, Holland, d. Aug. 30, 1880, Plymouth, Mass.) She was the daughter of George Morton and his wife, John Carpenter.

There was a George Bowman age 31, who passed the Port of London June 20, 1835 on the ship "Dolphin" bound for America. If this is the same George Bowman of Plymouth then he was 23 or 180 years old at the time of his death and probably for some reason he may have overestimated his age 4 or 5 years on the ship, Philip.

He owned land in Plymouth, Mass., before 1844, joined the local Militia Aug. 1844. Became freeman in 1847. He was surveyor of lands and highways for a number of years. In 1872 he built a house there that was known many years as the "Lamb House". He was a devoted church worker, a reader, and liked and respected citizen of the colony. The Plymouth Church Records record Vol. 1, pt. 3, 1838-1839 "George Bowman 31, died April 28, 1894, 85 years old" and in the same record (p. 31) April 28, 1894 died our brother, George Bowman, he lived a good old age, he was a man about all men spoke well of and is gone to receive his crown.

THE REVISION OF THIS 1973 EDITION OF THE BONHAM BOOK IS FOR THE PURPOSE OF PRESERVING THE RECORDS OF OUR BONHAM FORBEARS, WHO CAME DOWN OUT OF AN INTERESTING PAST.

A GREAT MANY BONHAM DESCENDANTS ARE TODAY INTERESTED IN THEIR ORIGINS AND ARE TRYING TO ESTABLISH THEIR LINES TO THE EARLIEST ANCESTORS OF THE NAME WHO CAME TO THIS COUNTRY.

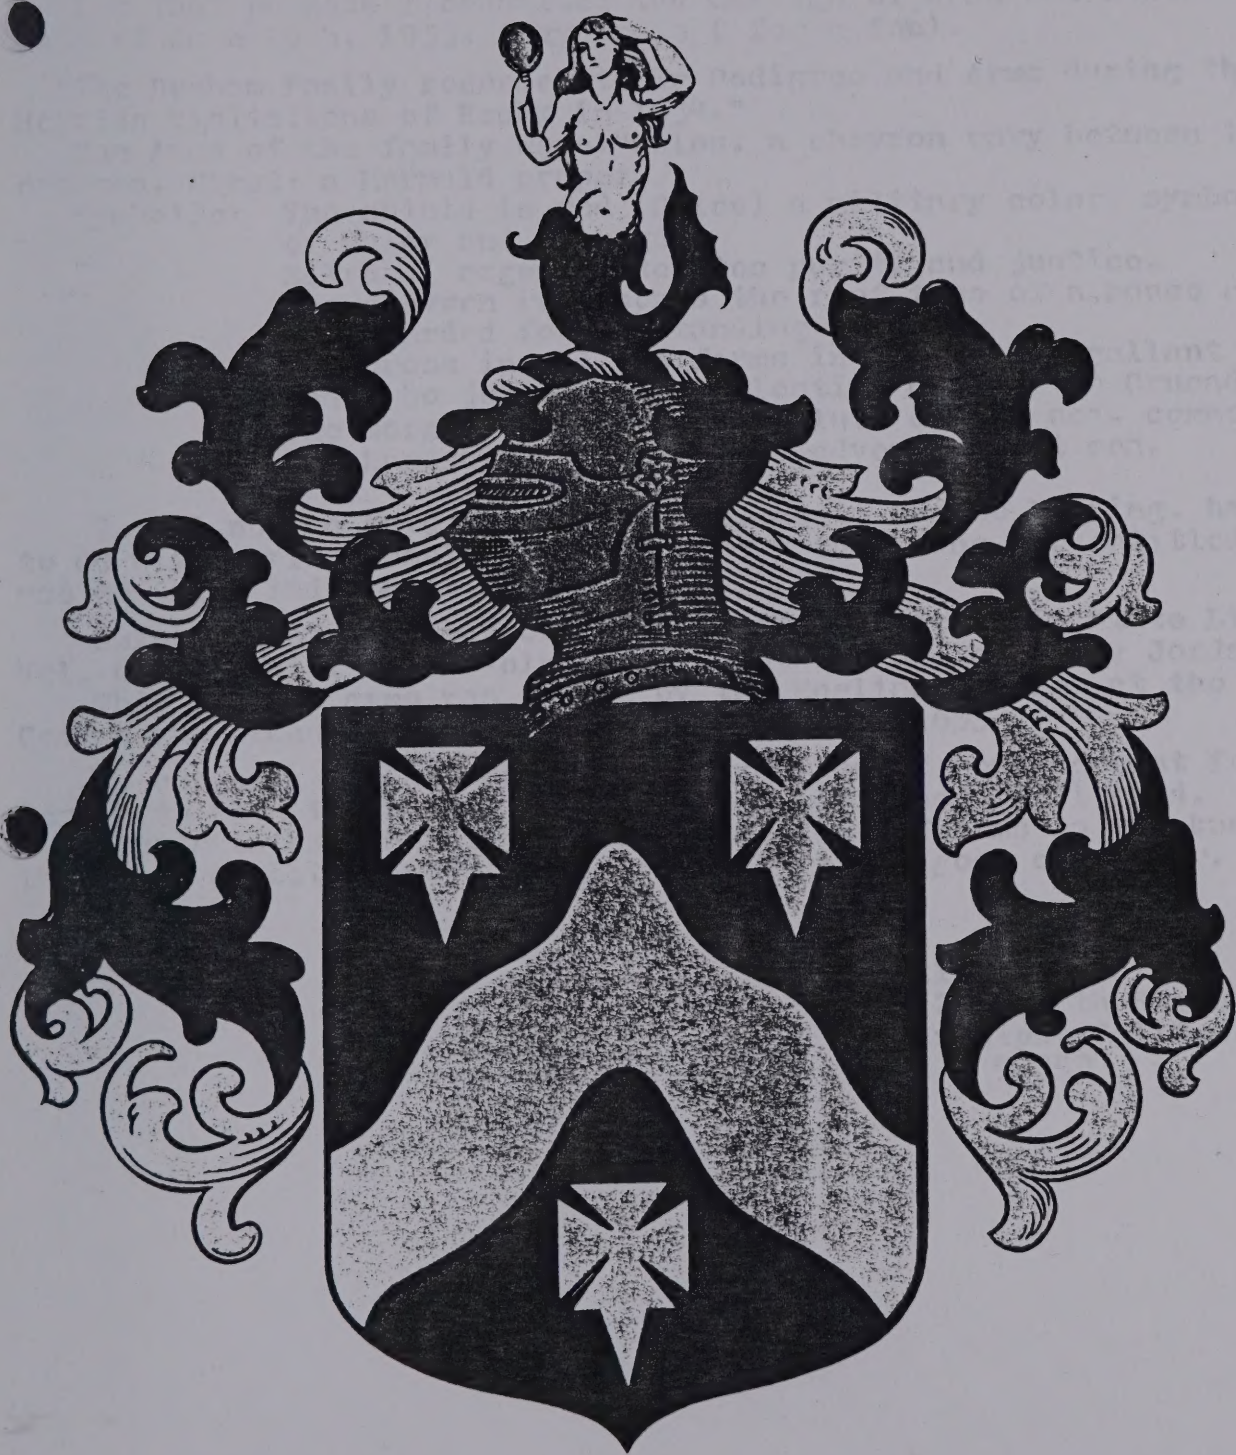

MOST OF THE DATA IS ON THE GENERATIONS SINCE THE ORIGINAL PUBLICATION IN 1909. FULL CREDIT MUST BE GIVEN TO DR. EMMET L. SMITH FOR HIS EFFORTS IN PRODUCING THE ORIGINAL BONHAM BOOK.

A SINCERE EFFORT HAS BEEN MADE TO ASSURE AS COMPLETE AND ACCURATE A RECORD AS POSSIBLE. HOWEVER THERE ARE MANY, MANY BONHAMS WHO DO NOT APPEAR IN THIS RECORD, BECAUSE ONLY ABOUT 30 PERCENT OF THE PEOPLE DID ANSWER OUR LETTERS OF INQUIRY REGARDING THEIR FAMILIES. MANY LINES ARE INCLUDED THAT WERE NOT IN THE ORIGINAL BOOK, AND ARE GENERALLY CONFINED TO THE MALE BONHAM LINE.

SEVERAL YEARS OF TEDIOUS SEARCH HAVE GRADUALLY PILED UP THE INFORMATION FOR THIS WORK. HUNTING THROUGH HUNDREDS OF VOLUMES IN LIBRARIES, SEARCHING COURT HOUSE RECORDS, VISITING CEMETERIES AND THE CHURCHES, AS WELL AS PERSONAL CALLS ON HUNDREDS OF BONHAM DESCENDANTS, AND WRITING HUNDREDS OF LETTERS HAS MADE THIS RECORD POSSIBLE. MANY, MANY HUNDREDS OF MILES HAVE BEEN TRAVELED TO SECURE DATA THAT COULD HAVE BEEN SECURED BY MAIL IF SO MANY HAD NOT BEEN UNWILLING TO ANSWER LETTERS OF INQUIRY.

TO THOSE WHO HAVE SO KINDLY ASSISTED ME I WISH TO EXPRESS MY GRATEFUL APPRECIATION AND THANKS. ANY INFORMATION ON BONHAMS IS INVITED AS WELL AS NOTICES OF ERRORS.

BONHAM COAT OF ARMS

For that purpose I consulted the College of Arms and under the date of June 29th, 1953, they wrote (for a fee).

"The Bonham Family recorded their Pedigree and Arms during the Harolds Visitations of Essex in 1634."

The Arms of the family were: "Gules, a chevron wavy between three crosses. Crest: a Mermaid proper.

Symbolic: The shield is red (Gules) a military color, symbol of valor and courage.

Silver (argent) denotes purity and justice.

The chevron represents the roof tree of a house and was awarded for outstanding service.

The cross in all its forms indicates the gallant thousands who journeyed to Palestine during the Crusades.

The mermaid, symbol of the lure of the sea, commemorates the hardships and perilous adventures at sea.

I will not go into the difference, as it has no bearing, having to do with various emblems (crescents) that sons are entitled to use on their individual Coat of Arms.

This Coat of Arms may be found in the Pennsylvania State Library, Vol. 6, "Colonial and Revolutionary Families of Penn." by Jordan.

This coat of arms was in use by the English Bonhams at the time George and Nicholas Bonham came to America in 1635.

By use of a certain Coat of Arms you assert your descent from the person to whom these arms were granted, confirmed or allowed.

Your greatest satisfaction from the Coat of Arms is the knowledge that your ancestors were people of quality and good character.

PAHMAN COAT OF ARMS

I am not qualified to write on the subject of Heraldry, but on account of the mass along such information as I have gathered regarding the Coat of Arms.

The first notion is that a Coat of Arms originally was to be displayed on shields so as to distinguish friend from foe in battle.

By 1417, a Coat of Arms was available to anyone, regardless of condition, for a fee.

During the reign of Henry V. (1417) a Royal Proclamation was made which was in the future to be allowed to bear (Coat of Arms) without application.

The College of Arms or Heraldic College was organized in 1483 to settle matters pertaining to Coats of Arms. After that only persons of good character and standing were permitted to receive or retain a Coat of Arms. The most successful of the methods for regularizing the use of Arms was by Visitations (official visits of inspection).

Heraldic officers, under royal authority, made systematic tours and all who used Arms were summoned to establish their right.

Such visitations may have been made before the 16th Century, but none is known to begin with 1528-29, and continue at intervals of about 20 years (one generation) until 1686. Original records in possession of College of Arms have not been published.

Allen-Bray in "Armorial Families" an authority, quotes a few instances where the Arms are found on coats of arms. It is possible to take an old Coat back approximately to its date of origin. However in the bulk of English cases one can do no more than refer to the visitations, which may or may not be the date of origin.

When a Coat of Arms was granted only a description was given, the armorist collected, added flowers, leaves, ribbons and other emblems which generally have no significance but are purely ornamental.

The principal charges are within the face of the shield.

It is customary to represent the Arms as placed on a shield, but this is not necessary. After all, a Coat of Arms was not at first placed on a shield and the Coat of Arms was displayed on all kinds of objects and had to be adapted to the shape. Furthermore, it is better to keep the natural form of a shield for general purposes.

Objects outside the shield do have a meaning and are usually granted separately or en masse. Motto is not a part of the Coat of Arms and is not describable except at will.

A crest is placed over a Coat of Arms and is the royal crown and it is the rank of the person whose arms are borne.

Helms of sovereigns are formed of brushed gold.
Princes and Peers are silver
Knights, Esquires and Gentlemen are polished steel.

The closed helmet in profile is for esquires and gentlemen.

The helmet is not specifically granted and is a matter of inherent right so that a person would not be wrong in placing a helmet above a shield.

DONIHAN COAT OF ARMS

I am not qualified to write on the subject of Heraldry, but am glad to pass along such information as I have gathered regarding the Donihan Coat of Arms.

The information is that a Coat of Arms originally were to be displayed on shields so as to distinguish friend from foe in battle.

Before 1417, a Coat of Arms was available to anyone, regardless of character, for a fee.

J. J. Fox-Davies in "Armorial Families" an authority, quotes a few cases where the Arms are found on early rolls. It is able to take an old Coat back approximately to its date of origin. However in the bulk of English cases one can do no more than refer to the visitations, which may or may not be the date of origin.

When a Coat of Arms was granted only a description was given. The collector collected, added flowers, leaves, ribbons and other emblems which generally have no significance but are purely ornamental.

Nevertheless, it is better to keep the original form of a shield for general purposes.

Emblems outside the shield do have a meaning and are usually granted separate or awards. Motto is not a part of the Coat of Arms and is not inheritable except at will.

The helmet is placed over a Coat of Arms and by the metal from which it is made denotes the rank of the person whose arms are borne on it.

Helmet of sovereigns are formed of burnished gold.

Princes and Peers are silver.

Knights, Esquires and Gentlemen are polished steel.

The closed helmet in profile is for esquires and gentlemen.

The helmet is not specifically granted and is a matter of inherent right so that a person would not be wrong in placing a helmet above a shield.

The College of Arms or Heraldic College was organized in 1463 to regulate matters pertaining to Coats of Arms. After that only persons of good education and standing were permitted to receive or obtain a Coat of Arms. The most successful of the methods for regularizing the use of Arms was by Visitations (official visits of inspection).

Heraldic officers, under royal authority, made systematic tours and all who used Arms were summoned to establish their right.

Such visitations may have been made before the 16th Century, but began to begin with 1523-29, and continue at intervals of about 20 years (one generation) until 1686. Original records in possession of College of Arms have not been published.

William Davies in "Armorial Families" an authority, quotes the following where the Arms are found on earlier rolls, it is possible to take an old Coat back approximately to its date of origin. However in the bulk of English cases one can do no more than refer to the visitations, which may or may not be the date of origin.

When a Coat of Arms was granted only a description was given, the colors were selected, added flowers, leaves, ribbons and other emblems which generally have no significance but are purely ornamental.

The principal changes are within the face of the shield.

It is not easy to represent the Arms as placed on a shield, but this is not necessary. After all, a Coat of Arms was not a shield like a shield or as the Coat of Arms was displayed on all kinds of objects it had to be adapted to the shape. If veridical, it is better to keep the natural form of a shield for general purposes.

Crests outside the shield do have a meaning and are usually granted separately or granted. Motto is not a part of the Coat of Arms and is not obligatory except at will.

A coronet is placed over a Coat of Arms and by the royal crown and it denotes the rank of the person whose arms are borne.

Helmets of sovereigns are formed of burnished gold.

Princes and Peers are silver.

Knights, Esquires and Gentlemen are polished steel.

The closed helmet in profile is for esquires and gentlemen.

The helmet is not specifically granted and is a matter of inherent right so that a person would not be wrong in placing a helmet above a shield.

DOMINANT COAT OF ARMS

I am not qualified to write on the subject of Heraldry, but am glad to pass along such information as I have gathered regarding the British Coat of Arms.

The information is that a Coat of Arms originally were to be displayed on shields so as to distinguish friend from foe in battle.

Before 1417, a Coat of Arms was available to anyone, regardless of character, for a fee.

During the reign of Henry V. (1417) a Royal Proclamation was made that no man in the future be allowed to bear (Coat of Arms) without authority.

The College of Arms or Herald's College was organized in 1433 to handle matters pertaining to Coats of Arms. After that only persons of good character and standing were permitted to receive or retain Coats of Arms. The most successful of the methods for regularizing the use of Arms was by Visitations (official visits of inspection).

Heraldic officers, under royal authority, made systematic tours and all who used Arms were summoned to establish their right.

Such visitations may have been made before the 16th Century, but records begin with 1523-29, and continue at intervals of about 20 years (one generation) until 1686. Original records in possession of College of Arms have not been published.

J. L. Fox-Davies in "Armorial Families" an authority, quotes: "In a few cases where the Arms are found on early rolls, it is possible to take an old Coat back approximately to its date of origin. However in the bulk of English cases one can do no more than refer to the visitations, which may or may not be the date of origin."

When a Coat of Arms was granted only a description was given. The artist then selected, added flowers, leaves, ribbons and other ornaments which generally have no significance but are purely ornamental.

THE BONHAMS OF WILTSHIRE AND ESSEX

THE LEGEND OF SEVEN AT BIRTH

Thomas Bonham II (G.3) was not much occupied in public affairs, as his father and grandfather had been, and yet he is perhaps the best known of all the Bonham family. He married in 1440 a wife named Edith and licence to hold services (audiendi divina) at Great Wishford was granted by the Bishop of Salisbury to the newly-married couple in the same year.

The lady is the real heroine of the legend which has given this couple a greater notoriety than has fallen on the lot of any other members of the Bonham family, for she is said to have presented her husband with seven children at a birth. The story has often been told and is a favourite theme for newspaper articles, but the oldest version of the tale, quoted both by John Aubrey and Sir C. Hoare, is found in the parish register of Great Wishford Church and is in the hand of Robert Powell who was curate there in 1640. It runs as follows;

There is in the body of our Church an ancient monument of some of the ancestors of the Bonhams, and said to have been that Bonham and his wife that had seven children at one birth. The inscription on the tomb is this that follows word for word:-

' Hic Jacet Thomas Bonham, armiger, quondam patronus Hujus ecclesiae, qui quidem Thomas obiit vicesimo nono die maii, Anno Dom. 1473: Et Editha uxor ejus, quae quidem Editha obiit vicesimo sexto die Aprilis, Anno Dom. 1469. Quorum animabus propitiatur Deus. Amen.

(Here lieth Thomas Bonham, gentleman, once patron of this church, the which Thomas died the 29th day of May, A.D. 1473: and Edith, his wife, the which died on the 26th day of April A.D. 1469. May God have mercy on their souls. (Amen)

They are both buried under the great marble stone in the middle alley of our Church, and the inscription, on the lower end of the same marble stone towards the choir, there were the small statues or images of nine young children, set in brass, all of which I myself knew standing there above 20 years, but of late one of them is broken out of the stone, by means of some violence or negligence of them that wrought in the Church and laide a great quarry stone upon the grave of Robert Kellman, lately buried. The statues of Thomas and Edith Bonham are said to be in an hollow vaulted arch under the wall in the North side of our Church, and such statues there are. His statue lies next to the door of the said side, and her statue at the feet of his.

By me, Robert Powell, Curate there April 10th. A.D. 1640.

John Aubrey, writing nineteen years later, in 1659, says in his NATURAL HISTORY OF WILTSHIRE that he has seen the curates entry in the register and adds:

This Mr. Bonham's wife had two children at one birth the first time: and he being troubled at it travelled, and was absent for seven years. After his return she was delivered of seven children at one birth. In this parish is a confident tradition that these seven children were all baptized at the font in this church, and that they were brought thither in a kind of chardger, which was dedicated to this church, and hung on two nailes, which are to be seen there yet, near the bellfree on the south side. Some old men are yet living that doe remember the chardger.

Mr R.C. Hoare in his HISTORY OF MODERN WILTSHIRE, published early in the nineteenth century, quotes the following particulars which had been sent to him:

BONHAMS

THE BONHAMS OF WILTSHIRE AND ESSEX

by E.B.Hazle

There is a very old monument, in memory of one Bonham, lord of the Manor, in solid stone, at full length, drest in pilgrims habit, with a leather belt around his waist, and pouch or script by his side: and, as report says, was the father of the 7 children born at one birth, and all brought to church in a sieve to be baptized. The occasion of this wonderful event was said to be that, their family coming on very fast, they were mistrustful that they should not be able to maintain them, and so agreed to part for seven years and if neither party was seen or heard of, to be at liberty to marry again. He went abroad, and she was in England: the time was nearly expired, and the lady on the point of marriage. The news was made known to him (report says) by a witch, who conveyed him home instantly, and found his lady to be married the next day. He was denied admittance, for he had not shaved himself the whole time, and no one remembered his person until he produced the ring they had broken. Then he was introduced to his lady, and at the next birth she had 7 children, and it is said was buried in the church, and a representation of them laid in brass, which is now to be seen.

I have quoted all three accounts as they are an amusing illustration of how a story will grow in the telling. It continues to grow even now, for I was assured by a member of the family not long ago that Thomas had spent his seven years abroad as a warrior in one of the Crusades. When it was pointed out to him that the middle of the fifteenth century was perhaps rather late in the day for that particular way of dodging one's family troubles, he reluctantly acknowledged that it might have been a pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

Sir Richard Hoare's early nineteenth-century informant's description of Thomas's statue as being dressed in pilgrims garb is probably responsible for this particular embroidery. One suspects Sir Richard's informant, indeed, of having drowsed over his Odyssey for his account of Thomas's return, and there is a mixed flavour of the seven wise men of Gotham and of Edward Lear's 'Jumbles' in the seven children in a sieve.

I am assured that the dress worn by Thomas Bonham in his effigy is not that of a pilgrim at all, but the ordinary garb of substantial layman of the period such as he in fact was. It is unusual, however, to find statues of laymen of the period habited otherwise than in armour.

All these monuments have been moved since Powell wrote his account in the church register, but the effigies of Thomas and Edith Bonham are still there for all to see, and under the matting in the north aisle one can find the great stone with some of the brasses of the children still "in situ" and the matrices from which others have been wrenched. These are the first representations of any members of the Bonham family which have come to us.

If we examine the little that was known of Thomas Bonham and compare it with the legend we get some rather curious results.

In 1435 he makes his first appearance in a document by which a trustee grants him the Bonham and Berwick St. James properties. If this, as I think probable, marked his coming of age, then he would have been six years old when his father died in 1420. He married in 1440 and in 1445 he made settlement of the Wishford property on himself and his wife, with remainder, 'in case of their dying without legitimate offspring which God forbid (quod absit)' to his rightful heirs.

This shows clearly that after five years of married life the dilatory Edith still showed no signs of her peculiar claim to fame.

In 1449 another note is struck, for in that year he handed over to trustees the whole of his property in Great Wishford, Berwick, St. James, the advowson

THE HISTORY OF WITCHAMER AND BASKIE

There is a very old monument, in memory of one Baskie, lord of the Manor, seated upon a hill in the parish of St. Andrew, near the town of St. Andrew, and his wife, and young of which by his side; and as report says, was father of the 7 children born at one birth, and all brought to church in one day. The occasion of this wonderful event was said to be that their family coming on very late, they were misadvised that they should be late to maintain them, and so agreed to part for seven years and 12. Their party was seen at least 12, to be at liberty to marry again. He went back, and she was in England; the time was nearly expired, and the lady on point of marriage. The news was made known to him (report says) by a man who conveyed his horse instantly, and found his lady to be married the day. He was denied admittance, for he had not shaved himself the whole day, and no one remembered his person until he produced the ring they had given. Thus he was introduced to his lady, and at the next time she had 7 children, and it is said was buried in the church, and a representation of which is shown, which is now to be seen.

have passed all these monuments as they are an amazing illustration of how they will grow in the telling. It continues to grow even now, for I was first by a record of the family not long ago that Thomas had spent his seven years as a warrior in one of the Crusades. When it was related out that the middle of the 13th century was perhaps rather late in the day for that particular way of obtaining one's family, he rejoined, "I thought that it might have been a little later to the help hand." In Richard Baskie's early adventures, information is given of Thomas, who is being discussed in various parts of the family history, for this knight's adventures. One adventure of Richard's is given, of how he was knighted over his day's work for his account of Thomas's return, and there is a list of the seven who were of Baskie and of Edward Lear's "Jumble". The seven children in a story.

an account that the dress worn by Thomas Baskie in his story is not that of a knight at all, but the ordinary garb of a substantial farmer of the period such as he is first met. It is unusual, however, to find a farmer of the period armed otherwise than in armor. If these monuments have been more than four hundred years old, they are very old, but the origin of Thomas and his Baskie are still there all to see, and what the writing in the north aisle one can find the names with some of the names of the children still in stone, and the names from which others have been changed. These are the first relations of any members of the Baskie family which have come to us. It is curious the little that was known of Thomas Baskie and perhaps it with legend we get some rather curious results. Legend we get some rather curious results. In 1445 he was the first appearance in a document by which a knight was knighted and awarded St. James properties. It is said that when he was knighted his count of age, then he would have been six years old when he was knighted in 1440. He married in 1440 and in 1445 he made settlement of a landed property on himself and his wife, with remainder, "in case of his dying without legitimate offspring which God forbid (good knight)" to his wife.

of the church of Great Wishford, the Manor of Bonham and properties at Wincanton, Roundhill, Stavordale and Gaspore, to be dealt with in accordance with a charter which he had already given them. This marked the birth of their son and heir, Walter, who, according to the age given to him in his father's Inquest post mortem in 1473 (aet.24) was born in that year.

No mention is made of twins, but Edith had taken the first step on the road to fame. It is worth mentioning here that the first of these documents bears a beautiful Bonham seal, wrapped in its original little flag of taffeta.

But, twins or no twins, Thomas did not set out on his seven years' journey at once, for in the following year, 1450, the year of Jack Cade's rebellion, he and others were commissioned to arrest traitors and rebels in Wiltshire and adjacent counties.

Then follows an absolute blank of nineteen years till 1468, when he presented Richard Burleigh to the living of Great Wishford, and nothing more till 1473, when he died. There is probably nothing really significant in this lack of records, for Thomas Bonham was evidently at no time of his life much occupied in the public service, the above mentioned commission to arrest rebels in the troubled times after Jack Cade's rebellion being the only reference to him in official documents, but there was certainly plenty of time from 1450 to 1468 for the seven years absence of the legend and its rather overwhelming aftermath.

The legend must certainly have had some foundation in fact, but the knowledge that Edith was childless for the first nine years of her married life makes one suspect that the climax may not have been so stupendous as the legend relates. If, after so many years of waiting, she produced seven children in rapid succession, it would be quite enough to set village tongues wagging and village church bells ringing. I have before me, as I write, an extract from the Times of 19 January 1938, reporting that a native woman from Nyassaland had given birth to seven children in twelve months triplets and quadruplets. I have even read of the prolific Edith's reputed feat being equalled in other parts of the world, though, fortunately, never surpassed. The Illustrated London News of 25 December, 1937 published a photograph of a tomb at Hamelin, recording that in 1600 one Anna Breyers of that place gave birth at one time to two boys and five girls, who were all baptized and died shortly afterwards. The seven babies in swaddling clothes are all depicted on the tomb.

But the story of Edith Bonham's feat is a good one and it is a pity to spoil it by too close inquiry, so let us pity poor Thomas and leave it at that.

His Inquest post mortem tells us little the list of properties which he held at the date of his death, in May 1473, at Bonham and Wincanton in Somerset and at Great Wishford, Berwick St. James, etc, in Wiltshire, and it states that his son and heir, Walter was then twenty-four years of age.

We may presume, I think, both from the legend and from the little brasses in the church, that Thomas and Edith did actually have nine children, but the only one of whom we have any reliable records is the eldest son and heir, Walter. We do not even know how many were boys and how many girls.

Hutchins states that Richard Turberville of Bere Regis, Co. Dorset, who died in 1504-5 married Joan, daughter and heir of Thomas Bonham, Co. Wilts, and the arms of Turberville impaling Bonham are recorded to have been in one of the windows of Bere Regis Church about the year 1600. This Joan may quite well have been one of the famous seven, though she was certainly not her father's heir.

BONHAMS

THE BONHAMS OF WILTSHIRE AND ESSEX

He is a person of some importance in our history, for it was he who first began that extension of the family property which, in the next generation proved fatal to the fortunes of the Wiltshire Bonhams. He joined in the general scramble for Church lands and in 1544 bought that portion of the Manor of Great Wishford which had belonged to Maiden Bradley Priory.

It had been granted by Henry VIII in the same year to Edward Seymour, Earl of Hertford (better known as the Protector Somerset) who promptly sold it to Nicholas Bonham. It had doubtless long been a Naboth's vineyard to the Bonham family, but, as often happened with these spoils of the Church, it brought bad luck with it.

I have already mentioned the existence of this third manor of Great Wishford, but very little seems to be known about it and it has proved a puzzle to Wiltshire antiquarians, so that few more details which I have discovered may not come amiss.

In 1347 Henry, Prior of Maiden Bradley, complained to the Itinerant Justice at New Sarum that John de Bonham and Elizabeth, who had been the wife of Adam at Ford, had unjustly disseised him of his free tenement in Great Wishford and of 34s. 4d. of rent accruing to him from it. The Prior claimed that the premises were in his lordship and held of him. A former Prior, a certain Radulphus, was seised of the property in the time of Henry III (1216-72) and the Church of the Blessed Mary of Maiden Bradley had enjoyed the rent from time immemorial until this Radulphus in the time of Henry III demised the property to a certain Henry Daubeny and his heirs to be held of Radulphus and his successors, rendering yearly the above-named rent.

The rent having fallen into arrear, the Prior had caused a distress to be made on the premises, and the tenants, at the instigation of John Bonham and Elizabeth atte Ford, had forcibly resisted. He claimed 12 marks as damages and arrears of rent.

What the result of the squabble was we do not know, nor is it of any consequence, but the case proves that the grant of the Manor to Maiden Bradley dated from long before the day of that Henry Daubeny on whose death in 1278 the larger and more important Manor of Great Wishford was halved between his descendants, the Bonhams and atte Fords. It was perhaps granted by Patrick de Cadurcis (Chaworth), to whom Henry I had given the whole Manor, or by his son-in-law, the first Henry Daubeny of Wishford, and the grant may well have been made on the foundation of the Priory about the year 1154.

This was the property which Nicholas Bonham now purchased; it consisted of seven messuages, three cottages and 400 acres of land in Great Wishford and a small property of forty-eight acres in Stapleford. Not content with this extravagance, he committed the more serious one of fathering a large and Quarrelsome family of four sons and seven daughters, all of whom had to be provided for. His wife was Alice, daughter of Walter Mohun.

His will has survived and it is interesting to compare it with that of his fourteenth-century namesake. We find here little of that spacious and orderly charity which was so marked a characteristic of the older will.

He leaves to Salisbury Cathedral 3s. 4d.; to his parish church of Great Wishford 6s. 8d. and 'the pax of silver which they had in the Church at the making hereof'; to the church of Berwick St. James 2s.; and 'to every of my godchildren 4d'. His wife Alice was to have the manor house of Wishford with all its appurtenances for life; his eldest son John was to have the Manor of Bonham and his lands at Berwick St. James, Barford St. Martin and Foulston. The rest of the property, consisting of tenements in Wishford and a small estate at Laverstoke, Co. Wilts., was left for 'the preferment of the residue of my children, both sons and daughters, according to the discretion of Alice, my wife, my executrix, and Walter Mohun esq. her father, my overseer'. To Walter Mohun he left 'for a remembrance, mine own riding gelding'. This last is the only personal touch in the whole document. There are no bequests to servants or friends and the younger members of the family are lumped together as 'the residue of my children'.

It is a very different will from that of the elder Nicholas, with its ordered provision for the Church, family and dependents and its revelation of the personality of the writer, but times had changed since the fourteenth century. and the mid-sixteenth century was, with all its splendour, a much harsher and more vulgar age: 'Every man for himself, and the devil take the hindmost.'

We have Nicholas Bonham's Inquest post mortem for both Wiltshire and Somerset properties. They are both very long, but add little to our knowledge except the fact that his son and heir, John, was sixteen years of age at the date of his death and that Mary Turberville, the widow of his eldest brother Walter was still alive and drawing for life the annual sum of £ 8 from the Bonham estate for her dower.

DISASTER

On the death of Nicholas II, on January 13, 1559, troubles rained fast on the Bonham family. The eldest son John died two months later, on 28th March, and John's younger brother, Walter aged thirteen, succeeded to the property. The mother was granted by Queen Elizabeth the wardship and marriage of her son Walter and the custody of his estates during minority.

She cannot have been very young, for she was the mother of eleven children living, but she was now a widow with assured means and it was perhaps this fact which brought her a second husband in the person of one Anthony Styleman, who "hung up his hat", as the Irish say, in the hall of the Bonhams of Great Wishford.

In 1569, when Walter Bonham was twenty-three years of age, a suit in Chancery was brought against him by one Robert Hewlett of Berwick St James, concerning the lease of a farm there called 'Bonham'sland'. The plaintiff averred that Walter Bonham and his stepfather, Anthony Styleman, had obtained possession of the original deed of lease and turned him out of his holding and let it to another. The case is of no importance, but it shows Walter Bonham and his stepfather working hand in hand. It also is of family interest, for in his reply Walter sets forth his title to the property.

He says: Long tyme before the said William Bonham one Thomas Bonham and Edythe his wife (of seven at birth fame) was seased as of fee taylor of the property. They had a son Walter Bonham and died. Walter Bonham died and left the property to his son Thomas. Thomas died and left the property to his son William. William died and left the property to Nicholas Bonham father of this defendant. Nicholas Bonham died about twelve years last past, and this defendant inherited it.

THE HOWLANDS OF WILKINSON AND ESTATE

and a small estate at Laverstock, Co. Wilts., was left for the preference of the residue of my children, both sons and daughters, according to the direction of Alice, my wife, my daughter, and Walter Howland and her late husband, who were 'for a time' in the only personal trust in the whole country. This land is the only personal trust in the whole country. There are no bequests to servants or friends and no younger son. The residue of the family was divided together as 'the residue of my children'. It is a very different will from that of the elder Howlands, with its provision for the family, family and dependents and the revelation of the personality of the writer, but there had changed since the Howlands' century, and the mid-eighteenth century was, with all its attendant, a much more vulgar age: 'Every man for himself, and the devil take the hindmost.' I have Nicholas Howland's latest post-mortem for both Wilkins and the Howlands. They are both very long, but add little to our knowledge except the fact that his son and heir, John, was sixteen years of age at the date of his death and that Mary Percival, the widow of his father, was still alive and dwelling for life the annual sum of £1000 the Howland estate for her dower.

DISASTERS

On the death of Nicholas II, on January 12, 1559, troubles rained down on the Howland family. The eldest son John died on October 15, 1559, and John's younger brother, Walter aged thirteen, succeeded to the property. The estate was granted by Queen Elizabeth the wardship and marriage of her son Walter and the custody of his person during minority. The estate was then very young, for she was the mother of eleven children, but she was now a widow with several means and it was within his reach which brought her a second husband in the person of one Anthony Howland, who 'bought up his hat' as the Irish say, in the hall of the Howlands of Great Wilkins. When Walter Howland was twenty-three years of age, a will in Great Wilkins was brought against him by one Robert Howland of Great Wilkins. The plaintiff claimed the issue of a late wife called 'Nicholas' Howland, but stated that Walter Howland and his stepfather, Anthony Howland, had obtained possession of the original deed of lease and turned him out of his house and let it to another. The case is of no importance, but it shows that Howland and his stepfather were in the hands. It is also of no interest, for in his reply Walter Howland told his story to the property. Long time before the said William Howland one Thomas Howland and his wife (of whom at birth time) was named as of the wife of the Howland. They had a son Walter Howland and died. Walter Howland died and left the property to his son Thomas. Thomas died and left the property to Nicholas Howland his son. Nicholas died and left the property to Nicholas Howland his son. Nicholas Howland died about twelve years later, and his eldest son inherited it.

BONHAMS

by E.B.Hazle

THE BONHAMS OF WILTSHIRE AND ESSEX

The Bonham family were subject to curious cycles of expansion and decay and the period with which we are now dealing was definitely one of expansion, for it was responsible for the creation of two new and important branches of the family, at Hazelbury, Co. Wilts, and in Essex.

In 1475 John Bonham of Plumber, Co. Dorset, married Anne Croke, one of the daughters and co-heiresses of John Croke of Hazelbury and Wick, and founded a family there. I was inclined to believe at one time that he might have been one of the seven, but I am now of the opinion that, as already stated he was an earlier offset from the Wishford branch. (For the Hazelbury branch, see my HISTORY OF THE MANOR OF HAZELBURY.)

But the Essex branch is even more important from the point of view of this family history. In 1497 there appeared in Essex a Thomas Bonham, son of Thomas Bonham, who quickly made for himself a great position and died 1532, a very rich and powerful man. The Essex branch used the same arms as the Wiltshire Bonhams and there can be little doubt that they came from Wiltshire. The matter will be further discussed when we come to deal with the Essex branch and it is only mentioned here because, so far as dates go, the first Thomas of Essex may quite well have been one of the septet that were carried in a sieve, like fledglings in a nest, to their baptism in Great Wishford Church.

Thomas's heir Walter (H.I) only enjoyed the property for four years, for he died in 1477. He married Elizabeth, daughter of John Pole of Sapperton and Coates co. Glos., and of Poole and Chelworth, Co. Wilts. Her mother's will, proved November 1488, leaves silver cups to 'my daughter Elizabeth Bonham' and to 'William Bonham'. This William (J.I) was the son and heir of Walter and Elizabeth, as we learn from Walter's Inquest post mortem.

There were two of these Inquests, one for the Wiltshire and another for the Somerset property, both taken in 1477, and it is certain that the Wiltshire Inquest gives the heir's age as seven, while the Somerset Inquest states that he was nine.

William Bonham had a longer innings than his father Walter and seems to have taken up the public duties performed by the earlier Bonhams of Wishford, for he was Sheriff of the County in 1514 and his name is found in various commissions for local work but none of them is of very great interest.

He presented to the living of Wishford in 1518. His wife was Mary, a daughter of Edmund Lambert of Maiden Bradleigh and sister of Sir Nicholas Lambert, Lord Mayor of London, and Richard Lambert, Alderman of London, who was buried at Great Wishford. Her great-grandfather John Lambert (or Lambard) had been owner of the Bathampton Wylve property which was sold to Sir John Knottingley, and which (as already related) passed to the latter's daughter Katherine Bonham and to the Mompesson family. I have not discovered the year in which William Bonham died, but he was succeeded by his son, Walter II as we learn from the latter's Inquest post mortem.

We know even less of Walter Bonham II than of his father and grandfather, but we have his Inquest post mortem for the Somerset property, from which we learn that his wife's name was Mary, that he died childless in 1527, and that his widow held the Manor of Bonham 'by right of increase', whatever that may be. According to Hutchins she was Mary Mawdley, daughter of Roger Mawdley of Nunney, Co., Somerset. She afterwards married Robert Turberville of Bere Regis, thus making a second connection between the Bonham and the Turberville families.

Walter Bonham, dying childless, was succeeded by his younger brother Nicholas II, as we learn from the latter's Inquest post mortem. Nicholas held both Great Wishford and Bonham from 1527 to 1559.

THE BONHAM OF WILMINGTON AND BRIDGE

By E. S. Davis

The Bonham family were subjects to curious cycles of expansion and decay and the period which we are now dealing with is definitely one of expansion. It was responsible for the creation of two new and important members of the family, at Haverhill, Co. Wilts., and in Essex.

In 1475 John Bonham of Pinner, Co. Bucks, married Anne Grove, one of the daughters and co-heiresses of John Grove of Haverhill and Wilts., and founded a family there. I was inclined to believe at one time that he might have been one of the seven, but I am now of the opinion that, as already stated, he was an earlier officer from the Windsor branch. (For the Haverhill branch, see my HISTORY OF THE HOUSE OF HANOVER.)

But the Essex branch is even more important from the point of view of this family history. In 1497 there appeared in Essex a Thomas Bonham, son of Thomas Bonham, who probably made for himself a great position and died 1530, a very rich and powerful man. The Essex branch used the name Anne as the Christian name and there can be little doubt that they came from Wilts. The matter will be further discussed when we come to deal with the Essex branch and it is only mentioned here because, so far as dates go, the first Thomas of Essex may quite well have been one of the seven that were married in a group, like Elizabeth in a group, to their nephews in Essex.

Thomas's wife Katherine (M.I.) only enjoyed the property for four years, for she died in 1497. He married Elizabeth, daughter of John Cole of Haverhill and Coates Co. Essex, and of Pinner and Chelmsford, Co. Wilts. Her mother's will, proved November 1488, leaves silver cups to my daughter Elizabeth Bonham, and to William Bonham. This William (I.I.) was the son and heir of Katherine and Elizabeth, as we learn from Katherine's indentured post mortem. There were two of these Bonhams, one for the Wilts. and another for the Haverhill property, both taken in 1497, and it is certain that the Wilts. line induced the heir's age to marry, while the Haverhill line induced that he was nine.

William Bonham had a younger brother than his father Walter and name is not raised up the public duties performed by the earlier Bonhams of Wilts., for he was knight of the County in 1514 and his name is found in various documents for local work but none of them is of very great interest.

He presented to the living of Wiltshire in 1518. His wife was Mary, a daughter of Robert Langford of Wiltshire and sister of Sir Nicholas Langford, Lord Mayor of London, and Richard Langford, Alderman of London, who was knighted at Great Wiltshire. Her great-grandfather John Langford (or Langford) had been owner of the Haverhill Wiltshire property which was sold to Sir John Langford, and which (as already related) passed to the latter's daughter Katherine Bonham and to the Haverhill family. I have not discovered the year in which William Bonham died, but he was succeeded by his son, Walter, as we learn from the latter's indentured post mortem.

We know even less of Walter Bonham II than of his father and grandfather, as we have his indentured post mortem for the Haverhill property, from which I learn that his wife's name was Mary, that he died childless in 1527, and that his widow held the Manor of Bonham "by right of marriage." Whatever may be said according to Haverhill she was Mary Haverhill, daughter of Robert Haverhill, Esq., Haverhill, Co. Hants. She afterwards married Robert Haverhill, Esq., of Haverhill, thus making a second connection between the Bonham and the Haverhill families.

Walter Bonham, Esq., childless, was succeeded by his younger brother Nicholas, as we learn from the latter's indentured post mortem. Nicholas held the Great Wiltshire and Bonham from 1527 to 1532.

A BONHAM LEGEND CONFIRMED

The legend of the Bonham woman in England who is reputed to have given birth to seven children at one time has been known to me for years but up to now I have never been able to get any confirmation.

During the past year (note date above) Clyde Arthur Bonham, youngest son of Eugene Washington Bonham and his wife Sarah Penny, and his wife Flora made a trip to England and were interested enough in the Bonham family history to take the time to investigate the legend.

Quote:

"Thursday; We had a most satisfactory day because it started out so uncertain and turned out so very well. We had saved the day to pursue the Bonham legend.

Went to Salisbury and the girl in the Information Bureau (a nice feature of the English R.R's.) knew about Wishford.

So our question was how to get there. She suggested as a first course was to try going by taxi, "but be sure to inquire the price first."

It was very satisfactory so off we went. We found the Rector in the church and got our information easily.

First let me say the church was darling, stained glass windows, (the rector said not outstanding" but I couldn't tell whether they were or not. There was a lot of rich red and blue, the church had a warm feeling.

Also there was a crypt with what he said had some very fine sculpture (and it was beautiful) of Sir Richard Grabhorn and his wife lying side by side. I think now that we are away that it was in marble, and I do remember the exquisite carving of the clothing, his decorative shoes and gold inlay to form the decoration on the pillow under their heads. This man was Knight Lord of the Manor of Wishford-1629.

But now for what is of interest to the Bonhams.

Thomas Bonham died in 1469 and was buried in a crypt in the Wishford Church. His image was carved in what looked like granite in rather severe lines, but look at the date. His wife is now on the nearby wall in a plain niche altho she was credited to be buried at his feet. The church is small so it is hard to see how it was possible but the rector said the church was rebuilt about 100 years ago. There is no account of her death but the figure in the niche was the same angular, primitive type as that of her husband.

The story to follow was written by Richard Powell curate of Wishford from 1612- 1642, a copy of which was framed and placed nearby at the feet of Thomas Bonham-certainly not a permanent record. The glass was already cracked.

Twins were born to Thomas and Edith Bonham and at this time they agreed to part and he went off to the crusades after splitting their wedding ring in two and each keeping half.

He traveled about for seven years when a witch warned him his wife was about to remarry, so he returned only his wife did not recognize him until he produced his half of the ring.

At that Edith recognized him as her husband and subsequently 7 children were born to them at one birth (that is what the account said.) They were brought to the church for the baptism and the original account I heard was that for years the baptism certificate hung on the walls. It didn't seem to be there now--at least not in evidence but the rector mentioned the baptism.

Legend of the Bomman woman in England who is reputed to have given birth to seven children at one time has been known to me for years but to now I have never been able to get any confirmation.

On the past year (note date above) Clyde Arthur Bomman, youngest son of Eugene Washington Bomman and his wife Sarah Henry, and his wife Flora, a trip to England and were interested enough in the Bomman family story to take the time to investigate the legend.

Thursday: We had a most satisfactory day because it started out as certain and turned out as very well. We had saved the day to pursue a Bomman legend.

At the Salisbury and the Earl in the Information Bureau (a nice lady of the English R.R.A.) knew about Wiltshire.

Our question was how to get there. She suggested as a first course to try going by rail, but be sure to inquire the price first.

was very satisfactory so all went well. We found the Rector in the church and got our information easily.

not let me say the church was darkening, stained glass windows (the Rector said not outstanding but I couldn't tell whether they were or not). There was a lot of rich red and blue, the church had a warm feeling.

There was a crypt with what he said had some very fine sculptures (it was beautiful) of Sir Richard Gresham and his wife lying side by side. I think now that we are away that it was in marble, and I do remember the exquisite carving of the clothing, his decorative shoes.

I told him to turn the decoration on the altar under their heads.

is now a knight-lord of the Manor of Wiltshire-1033.

Now for what is of interest to the Bomman.

When Bomman died in 1485 and was buried in a crypt in the Wiltshire church. His name was carved in what looked like granite in which were figures, but look at the date. His wife is now on the ground. It is a plain niche which she was credited to be buried at his feet. The church is small as it is hard to see how it was possible for the Rector said the church was rebuilt about 100 years ago.

There is no record of her death but the figure in the niche was the one singular, primitive type as that of her husband.

Story to follow was written by Richard Powell, cousin of Wiltshire in 1485-1487, a copy of which was found and placed nearby at the foot of Thomas Bomman-certainly not a permanent record.

There was already cracked.

There were born to Thomas and Elizabeth Bomman and at this time they agreed to part and he went off to the crusades after selling their holding time in two and each keeping half.

travelled about ten years when a witch warned him his wife was at the cemetery, so he returned only his wife did not recognize him. He produced his half of the ring.

At this recognized him as her husband and subsequently 7 children were born to them of one birth (that is what the account said).

My wife brought to the church for the baptism and the original was not I heard was that for years the baptism certificate hung on the wall. It didn't seem to be there now--at least not in evidence.

The Rector mentioned the baptism.

A BONHAM LEGEND CONFIRMED

They were laid at the feet of their father and we were shown what was left of the brass images of the seven plus the two other, the twins. About 3 or 4 very small pieces of brass, and now covered with a rug to protect what is left.

There is no record of how long they lived or how many grew up, also no record of the death of Edith Bonham, unless I missed it on her crypt. There was an elaborate brass plate in Thomas Bonham's crypt, but the vicar was in a hurry so I didn't attempt to read it and it may have been in old English at that.

The relationship of George and Nicholas Bonham has been a subject much discussed by genealogists and family researchers of the Bonham line. As most researchers have been interested in line only as far back as the Mayflower few have taken any clear cut stand or given a clear opinion on the relationship of these two Bonhams.

Some have dodged the issue with the casual statement "Nicholas might have been the son of George" or "believed to be brothers."

It remained for S. J. Bonham in Bonham Genealogy 1954 to go on record that George was the father of Nicholas. I have long been of this mind and fully support his opinion.

The basis of my conclusions are as follows:

George Bonham was married in England and evidently his wife died before he came to America in 1635. George did have a brother Nicholas in England and seems reasonable to presume that he was of somewhere near the same age, not twenty-five or more years apart. Evidently George had a son who he named after his brother Nicholas.

According to the best records George's father died about 1629 and no doubt the older brother, William, was placed in charge of the estate, as was the custom in England.

Possibly the arrangement was not to George's liking and possibly having lost his wife decided to seek his fortune in the new world of America.

Just let us suppose that George did not have a son Nicholas and he said to William - "I would like to take my young brother to America with me," and the reply he would no doubt receive - "You most certainly will not."

However if George did have a son Nicholas, William would no doubt say - "You will have to take your boy with you." I can think of no other reason why a man going into a new country would take a child of four to six years old.

The question has been asked - "How did Nicholas get over here?" His name was not on the passenger list of the Phillip, the ship George came on, true. They took the oath of Allegiance at Gravesend on June 20, 1635 which SHOWS THEY WERE TOGETHER ON SAILING DATE. No doubt George signed the oath for both of them.

After reading many records of passengers to America it appears to me that there was no uniform system of recording passengers, as it was entirely for the captain to decide how to list them. Hence one might list, John Jones, wife and small son, another John Jones, wife and child, and another John Jones and family, and another such as the captain of the Phillip might list the male passengers only. Under these conditions it is likely that only George was listed as Nicholas was just a small child. Proof of this is to be found in the list of male inhabitants of Plymouth Colony made in 1643 in which the names of males 16 to 60 years of age available for military duty, lists George Bonham, but not Nicholas who was then still under 16 years of age.

On this basis Nicholas was 29 years old at the time of his marriage to Hannah Fuller in 1659, she being 23 years old, born in 1636.

I have never credited the report that Nicholas was "an aged man" at time

The relationship of George and Nicholas Honohan has been a subject much discussed by genealogists and family researchers of the Honohan line. As most researchers have been interested in the only son far back as the Mayflower law have taken any clear cut stand or given a clear opinion as to the relationship of these two Honohans.

Some have dodged the issue with the casual statement "Nicholas might have been the son of George" or "believed to be brother."

It remained for S. J. Honohan in Honohan Genealogy 1934 to go on record that George was the father of Nicholas. I have long been of this mind and fully support his opinion.

The basis of my conclusions are as follows:

George Honohan was married in England and evidently his wife died before he came to America in 1835. George did have a brother Nicholas in England and seems reasonable to presume that he was of somewhere near the same age and twenty-five or more years apart. Evidently George had a son who he named after his brother Nicholas.

The question has been asked - "How did Nicholas get over here?" His name was not on the passenger list of the Patillo, the ship George came on. They took the oath of Allegiance at Gravesend on June 20, 1835 when GEORGE THEY WERE TOGETHER ON SAILING DATE. No doubt George signed the oath for both of them.

After reading many records of passengers to America it appears to me that there was no uniform system of recording passengers, as it was entirely for the captain to decide how to list them. On this basis Nicholas was 20 years old at the time of his marriage to Hannah Fuller in 1835, she being 24 years old, born in 1811.

I have never credited the report that Nicholas was "engaged" at this of his death in 1684, nor the report of Nicholas " born in England 1612, possibly earlier," with nothing to support the statement, evidently of the opinion that Nicholas was a brother and not a son of George Bonham.

Another says" It may be safely assumed that Nicholas Bonham was born about 1630. He died July 20, 1684 a middle aged man.

Another says" The date of birth of Nicholas Bonham has not been found in the New England records. Whether in England or New England he must have been born soon after 1630 as the year of his wife's birth was 1636.

This action indicates that Nicholas Bonham was a son of a then inhabitant George Bonham.

INHABITANTS by Louis Effingham de Forest Prominent genealogist

"In the New England towns, those who founded the towns and contributed to the purchase of lands from the Indians were the "inhabitants" and had the right to decide who, among the later comers, was acceptable as an inhabitant of the town. A man had no right to use the common grazing land, the common wood and water supply until he was thus admitted as an inhabitant. Even if if permitted to remain in a town a long period, if he were not admitted as an inhabitant the town was not responsible for him should he become incapacitated through old age or sickness.

In order to become a freeman of a Colony, a man must have been previously admitted as an inhabitant of the town and proposed for freeman by the freeman of the town, who vouched for his character. Only freeman had the right of franchise and the right to hold office, military or civil. At first the General Court was composed of the whole body of freeman and performed legislative and judicial functions but as this system became inconvenient deputies were elected from each town to serve in the General Court. The presiding officer of this Court was the Governor of the Colony. The Colonial militia consisted of all able bodied men between the ages of sixteen and sixty."

This explains why Nicholas was obliged to become an inhabitant upon settling in Barnstable, and also to support the belief that Nicholas was a son of George--not yet 16 years old in 1643, when all men able to bear arms then resident in the Colony were listed.

George Bonham was included in this list.

It is likely in 1854, not the report of Nicholas "born in England 1812," with nothing to support the statement, evidently of the opinion that Nicholas was a brother and not a son of George Bonham.

THE

FAMILY

"The Bonham family recorded their pedigree and arms during the Heralds Visitations of Essex in 1634. The arms of the family were; Gules, a chevron wavy between three crosses, a patee-fitch argent. Symbolic: the shield is red, a symbol of courage and valor. Silver denotes purity and justice. The chevron was awarded for outstanding service. The Cross was for the journey to the Holy Land. The mermaid is for perilous adventures at sea."

"The Bonham family received their pedigree and name during the British visitation of Hants in 1534. The name of the family was Bonal, a derivation very common in those times, a name which suggests symbolized the shield is red, a symbol of courage and valor. Silver denotes purity and justice. The device was awarded for the standing services. The Cross was for the loyalty to the King. The shield is further adorned by the

Bonhams in Europe

The family name of Bonham has been in use for many generations and has been spelled in various ways during the years. In the tax records of Virginia the tax collector spelled the name five different ways over a period of ten years. Some of the variations are - Bonam, Bonum, Bonaham, Bonhom, Bonem, Bonhomme, and Bonham. (1) The first and last forms are the most common and Bonham is the prevailing spelling today. However, Bonhomme is undoubtedly the oldest form. William Bonhomme and Agnes Bonhomme were listed on the "Hundreds Rolls" in the year 1234. (2)

Many suggestions for the source of the name have been made. "The Dictionary of English and Welsh Names," by Charles Bardsley, suggests that may have come from "le Bonhomme" the name for an organization of mendicant friars. This source lists Agnes, Anketin, Humfrey, and William as living in England in 1273. Richard is registered at the University of Oxford in 1597. "The Patronymica Britannica," by Mark Antony Lower, says, "This would appear to be the name of some locality. There was, however, a religious order called Bonhommes from whom the name may have originated. Bonhomme occurs in the H.R. as a stationary surname." (3)

Although there may be some doubt about the source of the name, there is definite evidence that the name did come from France. Family tradition is strong on this point as the story is repeated by so many members of the family from many sections of the country. (4) According to tradition the family left France and came to England during one of the periods of religious persecution. Other evidence that the tradition is fact is pointed out by

At any rate the Bonham family has played its part in the history of ^{This town in spelled Bonhain} England for the past 650 years. * Sir John Bonham was living in Wiltshire, England, in the year 1300 and was Knight of the Shire. His son, Nicholas, is listed as Knight of the Shire in 1356. Thomas, the son of Nicholas, succeeded his father. He married Catherine Marney the daughter of Sir Henry Marney.

William, the son of Thomas and Catherine, married Frances Knight, daughter of Sir Thomas Tey Knight.

Thomas, the son of William and Frances, was Knight of Stanway Hall and Sheriff of Counties Essex and Herts in 1526. He married the sister of Edmond Bocking.

William succeeded his father and had George. Family tradition indicates that in addition to George, William and Samuel also came to America soon after 1600. (2)

The trite expression, "Three brothers came to America," may well be a fact in our case. One of these brothers may have been William who is listed as one of the London Company in Jamestown in May 1609. (3) Tradition has it that he was a ship builder and was lost at sea without having a family. (4) Another brother may have been Samuel who was also listed as a member of the London Company at Jamestown. (5) Many references are made to Samuel Bonum

George Bonham (Chart I - Generation (1))

George Bonham is listed as a passenger to Virginia, sailing on the boat Phillip on June 20, 1635. (6) His age was given as 31. If this be true, he lived to be about 100 years old since his death date at Plymouth is April 28, 1704. The church record of Plymouth contains the following statement, "On April 28, 1704 dyed our brother George Bonham. He lived to a good old age being about 95 years of age. He was a good man spake well of and is gone to receive his crown," indicating that his exact age was not known except that he was very old. (7) He married, as a second wife, Sarah Morton, of Plymouth in 1644. (8) He sold land in Plymouth in 1647 and purchased land in 1653 and again in 1656 and 1659. He built a house in 1678 which is still standing. He deeded land to his daughter in 1679. He witnessed a will in 1669 and records show he was, indeed, an active citizen of the colony. (9)

 (1) He had been patented in his in Virginia in 1695, and again in 1696. (2) There is a will recorded by James Bond in Westmoreland Co.,
 Virginia, in 1705 and another, probably by his son, in 1706. (3) In 1717
 James was recognized as a surviving trustee of the London Company of Jamestown. (4) A James Bond married Margaret Talbot and they moved their children James and Rebecca. Rebecca married George Hilditch who became the father of Mary Bell, the mother of George Washington. James married Elizabeth, the sister of Mary Bell. (5)

James Bond

George Bond (1695 - 1750) (1)

George Bond is listed as a passenger to Virginia, sailing on the of Philip on June 30, 1695. (6) His age was given as 21. It is to be noted that he was about 100 years old at his death in 1750. He died in 1750. The church record of his death states the following date-
 "On April 20, 1750 died our brother George Bond. He lived to a good old age being about 55 years of age. He was a good man and well to do and was in his prime." It is interesting that his exact age was not known except that he was very old. (7) He married, as a second wife, Sarah Hunter, of Tidewater in 1694. (8) He sold land in Tidewater in 1697 and purchased land in 1698 and again in 1699 and 1700. He bought a house in 1698 which he still owned. He devoted land to his daughter in 1705. He witnessed a will in 1699 and records show he was, indeed, an active citizen of the colony. (9)

Nicholas Bonham (Chart I - Generation (2))

Nicholas Bonham, born (ca) 1632, is generally recognized as being the son of George. Early genealogists noted that George Bonham married Sarah Morton in 1644 and Nicholas Bonham married Hannah Fuller in 1658. This indicated that they were not father and son but brothers. They did not know that Sarah Morton was the second wife of George Bonham. More recent genealogists, such as Orra E. Monnette, show the relationship as that of father and son, Nicholas being the son of George and his first wife. Nicholas is recorded as being a citizen of Barnstable, Massachusetts, in 1662. It was here that he married on January 1, 1658, Hannah, the daughter of Samuel Fuller and Jane Lothrop Fuller. (1) Therefore, it seems expedient to consider at this time the Fuller and Lothrop families as shown in Chart II.

Robert Fuller (Chart II) and wife had Samuel and Edward, both of whom came to America on the Mayflower. (2) Edward, born 1575, married Ann and had Samuel who came to America with his parents. (3) The following information was taken from the Amos Otis papers (edited by C. F. Swift, 1888). Samuel Fuller, son of Edward and Ann Fuller, came over in the Mayflower in 1620. His parents died soon after they came ashore and he resided at Plymouth with his Uncle Samuel, the first physician who came to settle in our country. He had three acres on what is now called Watsons Hill. He was a freeman in the colony in 1634. He moved to Scituate where he married in the house of Mr. Cudworth on April 8, 1635, Jane, daughter of Reverend John Lothrop. He moved to Scituate, by letter from Plymouth, on November 7, 1636. He built the 15th house in Scituate in 1636 on Greenfield, the first house abutting on Kent Street. He moved to Barnstable in 1641 and was recognized a citizen there in 1644. His farm was located at the western limits of Barnstable and extended into Sandwich. The historical Congregational Church Nicholas Folger, born (ca) 1630, is generally recognized as being the son of George. Early genealogists noted that George Folger married Sarah Folger in 1644 and Nicholas Folger married Sarah Folger in 1658. This indicated that they were not father and son but brothers. They did not have Sarah Folger as the second wife of George Folger. More recent genealogists, such as Mrs. E. Kennell, show the relationship as that of father and son, Nicholas being the son of George and his first wife. Nicholas is recorded as being a citizen of Barnstable, Massachusetts, in 1681. It was here that he married on January 1, 1685, Hannah, the daughter of Samuel Folger and Jane Leach Folger. (1) Therefore, it seems expedient to consider at this time the Folger and Leach families as noted in Chart II.

Samuel Folger (Chart II) and wife had Samuel and Edward, sons of whom were a fraction on the left-hand side. (2) Edward, born 1677, married Ann and had Samuel who came to America with his parents. (3) The following information was taken from the New York papers (edited by G. F. Smith, 1908). Samuel Folger, son of Edward and Ann Folger, came over in the ship "The Mary" in 1690. His parents died soon after they came ashore and he resided at Plymouth with his Uncle Samuel, the first physician who came to settle in our country. He had three sons as noted in row 1 of Chart II. He was a freeman in the colony in 1695. He moved to Barnstable in 1695. He married on April 8, 1695, Jane, daughter of Edward John Leach. He moved to Barnstable, by letter from Plymouth, on November 1, 1695. He built the 17th house in Barnstable in 1695 on Greenfield, the first house standing on East Street. He moved to Barnstable in 1695 and was recognized a citizen there in 1694. His farm was located at the western limit of Barnstable and extended into Sandwich. The historical geographical chart of Barnstable and Sandwich is included in the Appendix.

is located nearby, and he surely was a member because his father-in-law was the minister for the congregation from 1625 until his death in 1653. He was buried on Lothrop's Hill near the site of the Meeting House. (1) He was recognized as a man of fine character and ability. At his death his inventory of personal estate was above 116⁴. He died at Barnstable in 1683 one of last of the passengers of the historic Mayflower.

Jane Lothrop's (Chart II) great-great grandfather was John Lothrop, a prosperous citizen of Cherry Burton, England, in 1545. Her great-grandfather was Robert who died in 1588. Her grandfather was Thomas and her father was The Reverend John Lothrop.

Reverend John was born in Ellen, Yorkshire, England. He was baptized on December 20, 1584, and died in Barnstable on November 8, 1653. He attended Queens College, Cambridge, and "acquired the usual dissenting spirit." In 1611 he became Vicar of Edgerton, Kent County, England, but resigned in 1623 and went to London where he became pastor of the first independent Congregational Church in London. The congregation broke up in 1632, and Reverend John was tried by the Star Chamber and imprisoned for two years in the Newgate prison. (2) In 1633 his wife, Hannah Howse, passed away. In 1634 he was released from prison and sentenced to "banishment." He sailed from England with his daughter on the ship, Griffin, and landed in Boston in 1634. (It may be of interest to note that the famous Ann Hutchinson came to America on the same ship.) He settled at Scituate and then at Barnstable being the first minister who preached at either place. In 1953 we visited the church at West Barnstable and noted in their bulletin that John Lothrop was the minister for the congregation from 1625 to 1634 in London and from 1634 until his death on November 8, 1653, first in Scituate and then in Barnstable. A visit to this church is a thrilling experience because of its simple beauty, neat condition of repair and historical significance.

is located nearby, and he usually was a member because his father-in-law was the minister for the congregation from 1857 until his death in 1887. He was buried in the family plot near the site of the Meeting House. (1) He was recognized as a man of fine character and ability. At his death his inventory of personal effects was about $100. He died at Barnstable in 1887 and is buried at the foot of the square of the historic meetinghouse.

John Loring's (Court II) great-grandfather was John Loring, a prosperous citizen of Cherry Bottom, England, in 1755. His great-grandfather was Robert who died in 1785. His grandfather was Thomas and his father was the Reverend John Loring.

Reverend John was born in Essex, Yorkshire, England. He was baptised on December 20, 1759, and died in Barnstable on November 8, 1825. He attended Queens College, Cambridge, and "acquired the usual classical attainments." In 1801 he was Vicar of Sturton, East County, England, but resigned in 1805 and went to London where he became pastor of the First Independent Congregational Church in London. The congregation broke up in 1810, and Reverend John was tried by the Star Chamber and imprisoned for two years in the Tower Prison. (2) In 1815 the wife, Sarah Anne, passed away. In 1816 he was released from prison and returned to "Barnstable." He sailed from England with his daughter on the ship, Briton, and landed in Boston in 1816. (3) He may be of interest to note that the famous Ann Hutchinson came to America on the same ship. He arrived at Barnstable and then at Barnstable being the first minister who preached at either place. In 1817 he visited the church at West Barnstable and noted in their collection that John Loring was the minister for the congregation from 1817 to 1825 in London and from 1817 until his death on November 8, 1825. First in Barnstable and then in Barnstable. A visit to this church is a thrilling experience.

Jane was baptized on September 29, 1614, at Edgerby, Kent County, England. (1)

It takes but little imagination to picture the wedding of Jane Lothrop and Samuel Fuller at Mr. Cudworth's on April 8, 1635. It was a marriage of prominent people in the community and the ceremony was performed by Captain Miles Standish in the presence of their many friends. Undoubtedly, John Alden and Priscilla Mullins were there. At least, one of their children was named Priscilla. Mr. Cudworth built his home in Scituate in 1634. The location is prominently marked near the center of town. The sign bears the following information:

The house has been moved to a new location nearby and is now used as a local historical museum.

Nicholas Bonham and Hannah Fuller were married on January 1, 1658, in Barnstable, Massachusetts. Their first three children were born in Barnstable: Hannah, born October 8, 1659, died August 19, 1689; Mary, born October 4, 1661, died 1742; Sarah, born February 16, 1664. And then it was but natural that Nicholas and Hannah heard the "call of the wild." Governor Carteret caused printed invitations to be sent to New England setting forth in glowing terms the advantages of the new colony in New Jersey. (2) The first conveyances of lands at Piscataway, New Jersey, were made to John Martin, Charles Gillman, Hugh Dunn, and Hopewell Hull (May 21, 1666). (3) Nicholas arrived in New Jersey sometime between the birth of his daughter Sarah in Barnstable in 1664 and the birth of his son Samuel in New Jersey in 1672. During this period there is no record of where they lived but they did have the following children between the years 1664 and 1672; Hezekiah, Nicholas Jr., Elijah, and Elizabeth. It is supposed that he came to New Jersey about 1668 as he was the 10th colonist to receive a grant of land in the amount of 122 acres. The following children were born in New Jersey: Samuel, born September 7, 1672, died October 1, 1682; Jane, born 1675, died 1676; Priscilla, born November 11, 1677. (1)

This small group of colonists in New Jersey, neighbors and friends of Nicholas Bonham and his family, came, for the most part, from New England. (2) And they were surely a group of fine men made of stern stuff. Many of them founded families who later played a prominent part in the development of our country. Many of them intermarried and migrated to the West. Names such as Drake, Doty, Dunham, FitzRandolph, Gilman, Giles, Hull, Langstaff, Martin, Roynion, Smalley, Smith, Slater, and Sutton indicate families of this community.

And among these men of high character Nicholas Bonham stands out as a leader of men. Soon after arriving in New Jersey he was made a Dutch Schepen, or magistrate, whose duty it was to nominate citizens to various official positions in the towns of East Jersey. He was approved as a Sergeant of Militia in 1681. (3) He took an active part in the affairs of the community and must have been successful in his business affairs. He established the village of Bonhamtown which exists today as a living tribute to the honor of this staunch pioneer. He died July 20, 1684. (4) The following is a copy of his will:

WILL OF NICHOLAS BONHAM

years 1865 and 1875; Hamilton, Nicholas, and Elizabeth, 1875 to 1885; and 1885 to 1895. It is possible that he came to New Jersey about 1865 as he was the 10th colonist to receive a grant of land in the amount of 125 acres. The following children were born in New Jersey: Samuel, born September 7, 1875; died October 1, 1885; James, born 1875; died 1875; Elizabeth, born November 11, 1877. (1)

This small group of colonists in New Jersey, neighbors and friends of Nicholas Hudson and his family, came from the north part, from New England. (2)

And they were surely a group of fine and good of spirit stuff. Many of them founded families who later played a prominent part in the development of our country. Many of them interested and migrated to the West. Names such as: Chase, Coffey, Graham, Fitzhugh, Gilman, Gilman, Hall, Langwell, Martin, Houghton, Seelye, Smith, Sisson, and others indicate families of this community.

He was approved as a minister of the Reformed Church in 1861. (3) He took an active part in the affairs of the community and was very successful in his business affairs. my sins past most heinously sinning throughout my life I give and commit up unto Almighty God my Father and Redeemer in whom and by whose of Jesus Christ I trust and believe myself to be saved and to have full remission and forgiveness of all my sins and that my soul with my body at the general day of resurrection shall rise again with joy and through the merits of Christ's death and passion between me and the Kingdom of Heaven proposed for his elect and chosen and my body to be buried in such a place where it shall please my executor hereafter named to appoint. And now for it is of my personal estate and such goods chattels and debts as it has pleased God to give up hereby to bestow upon me I do hereby give and dispose as here in witness and true following. This is my will."

"That I will that all those debts and duties as I owe in right of myself to any person or persons whatsoever shall be well and truly paid and paid up or paid to be paid within convenient time after my decease by my executor hereafter named."

"Then, I give and bequeath unto my dearly beloved wife Hannah Jordan the house and lot that I now live on and be had as now the said her natural life and after her decease and children born."

"Then, I give unto my said son Benjamin Jordan all the rest of my land lying within the township of Blandford or a part thereof."

"Then, I will order and appoint that all my estate with my personal goods shall remain in the hands of my executor hereafter named for to support of my family and to bringing up of my children and as any of them shall want parts of my estate and goods as he shall think fit as my executor shall think good with and by the advice and consent of my executor hereafter named."

"Then, I will and bequeath unto my grandchildren now living or shall be born within a year after my decease, one half to each of them to be paid and paid out of my estate by my executor hereafter named."

"Then, after my decease of my said wife Hannah, goods or lands that are then whatsoever of I do will and bequeath unto my said daughter her heirs or sole heirs enjoying the legal estate before mentioned and to other dispositions in the evidence above mentioned."

"Then, I will constitute and appoint my wife Hannah Jordan and my son Benjamin Jordan to be my heirs and sole executors and dispose of my estate above mentioned accordingly as is above ordered and appointed with and by the advice and consent of my executor hereafter mentioned."

"Then, I do request and desire my friends Isaac Smith, and Edward Smith to be my overseers to settle and settle up my estate above the disposing of my estate and affairs as above said."

"Given under my hand and seal the day and year above written."

"Signed and sealed in the presence of Edward Smith Isaac Smith."

Notes

HUSBAND - George Bonham

BIRTH: His age was listed as 31 when came to America on the ship Phillip 20 Jun 1635.

MARRIAGE1: Md 1st about 1629 to Miss Bishop.

MARRIAGE2: Recorded Plymouth records. Married Sarah Morton, dau of Geo Morton 20 Dec 1644.

DEATH: His death recorded as 28 Apr 1704 from Plymouth church records. They stated he lived to a good old age being about 95 yrs. If manifest from ship is right he would have been 100.

It is thought the nationality was originally French, then coming to England.

George sold land in Plymouth in 1647 and purchased land in 1653 and 1656 and 1659. He built a house in 1678 which is still standing (1955). He witnessed a will in 1669 and records show he was an active citizen of the colony.

Several sources for the Bonham family. Some I researched and some was sent by Maria Roseberry that she located while in Boston, MA.

"The Bonham Family" by Samuel J. Bonham pub 1955 sent to me from Maria Roseberry of IN which she located from Boston MA library. p 1-8 & 26 This book used many sources which are listed in book. The line of descent listed in this book starts with Sir John Bonham who was living in Wiltshire, England in the year 1300 and was Knight of the Shire. His son Nicholas is listed as Knight of the Shire in 1356. Thomas, son of Nicholas, succeeded his father. He married Catherine Marney, dau of Sir Henry Marney. William the son of Thomas and Catherine md Frances Knight, dau of Sir Thomas Tey Knight. Thomas, son of William & Frances was Knight of Stanway Hall and Sheriff of Counties Essex and Herts in 1526. He md the sister of Edmond Bocking. William succeeded his father and had George and possible William and Samuel who was said to all come to America. Son William died en route. Many references to Samuel Bonum in US as well as George, our ancestor.

There are many books written on the Bonham family. Some listed below.

"Bonham Families from NJ" by W.A. Bonham. Nicholas Bonham (1628-31, probably b. England, died 20 Jul 1684 Piscataway, Middlesex Co. NJ. Md 1 Jan 1658 Barnstable, MA to Miss Hannah Fuller. Nicholas was admitted to Citizen of Barnstable, MA 3 Oct 1662 as "a son of a present inhabitant". He moved from Barnstable to Piscataway ca 1666. He took the oath of allegiance to the Dutch government in 1672. He was elected Magistrate for the Piscataway District Aug 26, 1671. He was sworn in as Magistrate Sep 15, 1673. In 1676 he received warrant for land in Woodbridge, NJ. There is no record that he ever lived there. On Sep 10, 1678 he received a grant of land of 122 acres. It was on this grant of land that he formed the settlement known as "Bonhamtown" in Middlesex Co. NJ. which was a thriving community down to the present time (1941). Which is located five miles northeast from New Brunswick in Woodbridge Twp. He was a sergeant in the Military organization under Capt. Drake. On Nov 1681 he made oath as "Sargeant Bonham". His will dated 6 Feb 1683 was listed as "Yeoman of Piscataway, Middlesex Co. NJ". Copied pgs 109-110-111.

"Bonham Family" by E.B. Hazie pg 17-23 list children. Also copied pg 9-12 thru 24.

"Dedication: Drake, Fitz Randolph, Bonham, Hawkins" pg 327 List Sergeant Nicholas Bonham and family. Also has original will of Nicholas which is very hard to make out but other sources have typed it.

"The Bonham Family" by Samuel J. Bonham pub 1955 p 1-8 & 24 copied. Nicholas Bonham soon after arriving in New Jersey was made a Dutch Schepen, or magistrate, whose duty was to nominate citizens to various official positions in the towns of East Jersey. He was approved as Sergeant of Militia in 1681. A copy of his will written here.

NJ Archives pt ? pg 6 and pt 3 & 4 pg 575-588.

"1st Settlers of Piscataway, Woodbridge, NJ. vol ? pg 5-6-7-218-223. Info on Bonham/Beham/Bonam and other spellings of probably related Bonhams.

"New England Historical & Genealogical Register" Vol 2 pg 64-65: Nicholas Bonhams name is in the list of persons admitted to inhabit Barnstable, 1662-1666. Nicholas Bonham m. Hannah Fuller 1 Jan 1658 and children, Hannah 8 Oct 1659, Mary 4 Oct 1661, Sarah 16 Feb 1664.

"New York Gen & Biographical Record" Vol 29 p 38: Nicholas Bonham came with others from New England to New Jersey abt 1666. He died 1684 (pg 41)

"Gen Directory of 1st Settlers of New England" by J. Savage: Nicholas Bonham Barnstable, perhaps brother of George (was son of Geo.) md 1st Hannah, dau of Samuel Fuller (3 dau listed).

Book by Marge Waterfield pub 1985 that I have copy of.

WIFE - Hannah Fuller *

BIRTH: Info from the book by Marge Waterfield pub 1985. Fuller and Allied Families. Family group sheets from Salt Lake City also listed birth and parents.

MARRIAGE: Info from Bonham Genealogy and Barnstable Vital Records. Married Barnstable, MA.

DEATH: Genealogical Directory of First Settlers Of New England and Barnstable Records of births and marriages in the Mayflower Descendants.

PARENTS: Info from several books.

CHILDREN: Several books and NJ records pt 6 and pg 3-4 pg 575, 588. I have 9 listed with dates and spouses.

Nicholas and Hannah moved from Mass to NJ about 1666 and he became member of the Piscataway NJ Baptist Church. Hannah probably did also. He formed the settlement known as "Bonhamtown" in Middlesex Co., NJ, don't know if they lived there or not, probably did as said children born there. Hannah and son Hezekiah were executors of Nicholas's will.

By deed dated March 12, 1663-4, Charles If, conveyed the territory which is now New Jersey, to his brother, James, Duke of York, conferring the right of government as well as title to the soil. The Duke shortly after granted in "as full and ample manner," the same territory to John Berkeley, Baron of Stratton, and Sir George Carteret, of Devon. These two gentlemen, as sole owners of the land, prepared a document which was publicly announced under the title of "The Concessions and Agreements of the Lords Proprietors of New Jersey, to and with all and every the adventurers and all such as shall settle and plant there." These loyal subjects of the crown at once appointed Philip Carteret to be Governor of the newly acquired territory, and sent him over in 1665 with the wisely constructed laws, just referred to (as the "Concessions and Agreements"), for regulating the province. Only a short time before, the Duke had despatched Colonel Richard Nichols, with a fleet, to take possession of the royal grant, and commissioned him as Deputy Governor over part of New York and all of New Jersey. He was instructed also to advance the best interests of the new country. Arriving in New York harbor the latter part of the summer of 1664, immediately after capitulation of the Dutch, steps were taken to develop the eastern part of New Jersey, and favorable conditions for new plantations were published by Colonel Nichols.

During the winter of 1664, some English inhabitants from Long Island obtained from him a patent for a large tract of land east of Staten Island, extending from the Passaic River on the north to the Raritan River on the south, and reaching from the salt water coast about thirty-five miles westerly into the interior, embracing nearly 500,000 acres. This was known as the "Elizabethown grant."

When Governor Philip Carteret landed at Elizabethport in August, 1665, with his family and retinue of servants, he found two miles up the creek a little settlement already established.

At once a conflict of ownership to the soil arose. Subsequent peace of the province was impaired. Contentions immediately ensued. But Governor Carteret compromised with the first claimants by confirming the local privileges granted them by Deputy Governor Nichols, and speedily instituted measures to encourage and facilitate the development of the province. To this end he dispatched agents into New England to invite emigrants thither.

The conflicting grants of Deputy Nichols and Governor Carteret engendered litigation never settled till the Revolution. The Duke of Devon, who was consulted all legal claims.

In consequence of the invitation of Governor Philip Carteret of East Jersey (says Coffin in History of New Jersey, Mass.), several persons went from Newbury and settled a township which, in honor of the Rev. John Woodbridge, of Newbury, was called "Woodbridge." Of these emigrants some returned, while others remained and became distinguished both in civil and military life.

Among those making New Jersey their permanent home were names of the original patentees and associates, included in the families referred to in the statement following, who had made the purchase in 1666 from the Elizabethtown people, and the same season sold a third part of their patent to the Piscataway planters.

On May 21, 1666, the Newberry people obtained from Governor Carteret and other original owners, permission to settle two townships on that part of the Elizabethown grant lying between the Raritan and Raritan Rivers. A deed for this land was executed December 11, 1666, in consideration of £80 sterling, and Woodbridge township was established.

One week afterward, on the 18th day of December, 1666, these parties transferred one-third of their recently acquired property to Hugh Dunn, John Martin, Hopewell Hull and Charles Gilman, with their families. These founded the township of Piscataway, with the associates who soon joined their company.

During the next year there came other members of the same families and additional comers from New Hampshire, New Plymouth and Massachusetts Bay. At the time Benajah Dunham bought his farm, the required number of actual settlers (as specified in the deed of 1666) had not yet taken up land for development in Piscataway. Stimulated by official concessions from Governor Carteret in the fall of 1670, renewed efforts were successfully made to increase the population and develop the town so recently started on the banks of the Raritan River.

(John) Langstaff and others from the Piscataqua district in New Hampshire, John Fitz-Randolph from Massachusetts, with his brothers Thomas, Joseph, Benjamin, and sisters Elizabeth and Hope, with their widowed mother, Jeffrey Manning, Nicholas Bonham, Samuel Walker, John Smalley and others with their wives and children.

These new accessions made quite a settlement, which very soon was increased by arrivals from different districts in New England.

Benajah Dunham came this way because many of these Pilgrim acquaintances had preceded him. When he landed in Piscataway, it was not to be greeted by strangers. Several of the pioneers named were his father's old friends in Plymouth, and some were his acquaintances from Massachusetts; and some of intimate fellowship had been citizens in Barnstable and other towns of the "Old Colony."

In the neighboring township of Woodbridge, at this early date, were located the New England families of Ayers, Andrews, Baker, Dennis, Hilsley, Moore, Compton, Conger, Dennis, Hilsley, Moore, Parker, Pike, Smith and others. All these were well-known names, and contemporary with the Dunhams in the primitive colonies of Massachusetts Bay and New Plymouth.

In the summer of 1673 the Dutch regained temporary possession of Jersey and required an oath of allegiance from every adult in the Province. The inhabitants of each town surrendered to the authority of the Netherlands, and Piscataway, then, was represented by 43 male citizens over 21 years of age, all of whom took the oath of allegiance. The magistrates selected to arrange local government were John Smalley, Nicholas Bonham, and Daniel Denton, who were sworn in Sept. 6, 1673. Among the list of officers of militia elected, and sworn in by order of the Council of War, was Benajah Dunham, as captain of the Piscataway squad.

This was the first public official reference to Benajah Dunham in New Jersey. His name appeared significant of his position. Like his great Scriptural namesake, who was one of David's distinguished generals commanding the army of Israel, it is seen our modern hero was made captain of a militia company, almost as soon as he transferred his citizenship to the Jerseys. At this date he was 33 years of age, but how long his military appointment extended, after a treaty of peace in 1674 was signed, which terminated Dutch rule, the writer is not informed. It is presumed he was industrious in providing for his family in the peaceful occupations of life. He died, as has been stated, in the prime of manhood, during the summer of 1680, when only 40 years of age. His only son, Edmund, had almost attained his majority and was old enough to be a comfort and help to his widowed mother. Then it was his dying request that his old friends from New England should assist in an oversight of the children. These two friends mentioned in his will were John Fitz-Randolph, a neighbor in Piscataway, and Samuel Dennis, of Woodbridge, both prominent persons in the later history of the province.

Subsequent events in the development of the family prove that the name of Benajah Dunham was honorably represented by his surviving son, Edmund, who lived an influential and useful life, and became himself the father of a large and interesting following.

THE DUNHAM FAMILY

Edmund Dunham in Relation to His Times and the Constituency of the First Baptist Church, Piscataway, N. J., 1680-1700.

By O. B. Leonard

ARTICLE IV.

The only surviving son of Benajah Dunham, the founder of the Piscataway branch of this family, was Edmund Dunham. The founder was born, as previously stated, in New Plymouth Colony, 1640. He emigrated to East Jersey about 1671, from Eastham, on Cape Cod, and his death occurred in Piscataway, 1680. Previous to his removal from the Pilgrim home of his birth, his first son, Edmund, was born (July 25, 1661). Six other children succeeded him in this Dunham household, only two of whom lived beyond childhood. These were daughters, Mary and Elizabeth. The family name was thereupon handed down to posterity by the only surviving son, Edmund Dunham.

Among Benajah Dunham's neighbors, who early settled in Piscataway, was Nicholas Bonham, who raised a family of children, in the little hamlet called Bonhamtown. He emigrated from Barnstable, on Cape Cod, somewhere near the same time that the Dunns, Fitz Randolphs, Drakes, Martins, Dunhams and others came to this section of East Jersey. Mr. Bonham's wife, whom he married in 1658, was Hannah Fuller, oldest daughter of Mr. Samuel Fuller, one of the "Mayflower" passengers, who came over from Holland to America in 1620. The children born in New England to Nicholas and Hannah Bonham were the four following, whose families in after years attained a prominence and usefulness in Piscataway Township:

HANNAH BONHAM, the oldest child, married, Aug. 19, 1677, Daniel Lipping, one of the sturdy yeomanry of the township.

MARY BONHAM, born Oct. 4, 1661, married July 15, 1681, the subject of this sketch, Edmund Dunham.

SARAH BONHAM, born in 1664, married 1681, John Fitz Randolph, one of the four brothers who moved into the township with their mother from Barnstable, Mass. (1669).

EDMUND DUNHAM reached his manhood (probably in East Jersey), married 1690, Mary Dunn, daughter of the pioneer planter, Hugh Dunn, one of the original patentees of the town in 1666.

In his last will, made Feb. 6, 1683, Nicholas Bonham provides as follows:

Item, I order and appoint yt all my cattell with my household goods shall remain in ye hands of my executors, hereafter named, for ye support of my family and ye bringing up of my children, and as ye of them marries, such part of ye said cattell & goods to be given them as my executors shall think meet.

Item, I will and bequeath unto my grandchildren now living or shall be borne within a year after ye date hereof, one Bible to each of them to be bought & paid for out of my estate by my executors.

Item, After ye decease of my said wife what Chattels, goods or lands that is then undisposed of, I do will and bequeath unto my son Hezekiah Bonham, he beinge my sole Heire, exceptinge ye legacies before mentioned.

This reference to Nicholas Bonham and his children, is made to show the intimate relationship which existed between his family and those of the Dunhams, Dunns English Friends and a few Irish Baptists. At the time of the sale above referred to, there were 80 families, all told, living in Piscataway, embracing a total population of about 400 men, women and children.

"Although the increase of settlers was considerable the next few years, and the reward of industry abundant, yet the improvement of the province was not commensurate, either with the expectations or exertions of the proprietaries, which may be attributed mainly to the unfortunate dissensions respecting titles to the soil."

It was during this formative period that East Jersey was first divided into four countries. Courts for the trial of small causes were established. County courts were erected, and other legal measures were adopted for the better government of the people. Laws were passed for improving the interior sections of the adjacent country, by opening roads, for the bridges, and enacting statutes for the peace, prosperity and general good of the inhabitants.

Within this same decade, at their own door, the freeholders of Piscataway and other townships through out the province, decided to dispense with the proprietary government, and petitioned to be taken under the management of the Crown, which was satisfactorily accomplished in 1702.

While Edmund Dunham took a modest, but influential, part in establishing secular matters, as the township minutes verify, he prominently appears in public life as an active Christian man, in connection with the organization of the First Baptist Church of Piscataway, from 1686 to 1689.

It is a matter of accepted tradition that in the spring of 1689, Edmund Dunham, with his brothers-in-law, John Fitz-Randolph and Hezekiah Bonham, and the latter's father-in-law, Hugh Dunn, John Smalley and John Drake, these six men were publicly constituted a gospel church, by the help of Rev. Thomas Killingsworth, from South Jersey. He was an ordained Baptist clergyman, recently from Norwich, England, and upon his arrival in this country was commissioned a Judge of the Court of Salem County, N. J. This double occupation was of frequent occurrence in those primitive days, when a minister would act as a magistrate also.

THE DUNHAM FAMILY

Edmund Dunham in Relation to His Times and the Constituency of the First Baptist Church, Piscataway, N. J., 1680-1700.

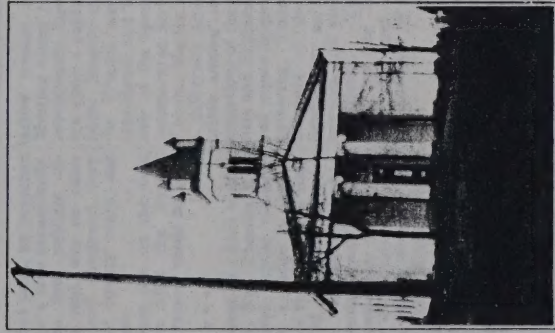

By O. B. Leonard

ARTICLE IV. (PART II.)

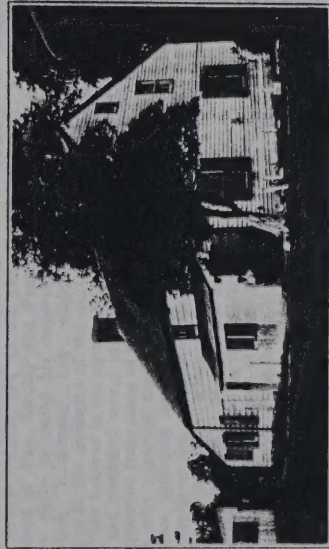

John Drake, one of the original free-men, of the Township, in 1669-70, was ordained, at this public recognition, as the first pastor of the little band. He came from the Piscataqua district in New England, where his family had been a neighbor of Hugh Dunn, John Langstaff, John Gillman and others now in Piscataway New Jersey. He married (1677) Rebecca Trotter, daughter of one of the original associates of the Elizabethtown grant. By this marriage, and two subsequent wives, Pastor Drake had thirteen children. Some of them married into the families of Dunn, Fitz Randolphs, Martins, Walkers, Hulls, Compons and others. His pastorate extended through half a century. He died in 1741, his will having been probated September 29 of that year.

John Fitz Randolph was descended from an old distinguished Norman line, whose father, Edward, coming to America in 1630-2, married (1637) in Massachusetts, Elizabeth Blossom, of excellent Pilgrim stock. She was the daughter of Deacon Thomas Blossom, of the Leyden church in Holland. Mr. Fitz Randolph was born (1653) in Barnstable, on Cape Cod, and moving into Piscataway (1689-9) married here, Oct. 1, 1681, Sarah Bonham, a sister of Edmund Dunham's wife. His children, all born in the township between 1682 and 1698, were three daughters, Sarah, Elizabeth and Temperance, and two sons, John, Jr., and Edward.

Hugh Dunn came in (1666) to this settlement one of the original patentees. He emigrated thither from that section of Northern New England, where Hansard Knollys had early preached the gospel (1640) and whose religious instructions influenced his hearers to believe in Baptist doctrines. Mr. Dunn was devoutly pious, and as a lay preacher encouraged the pioneers to holy living. His nine children were all prominent citizens of Piscataway, and were especially active in the membership of the new church movement, projected a few years later by Edmund Dunham. His sons were: Hugh,

Baptist Church at Piscataway, New Jersey

Jonathan Dunham House at Piscataway, New Jersey. On this farm is the private Dunham Burying Ground.

Jr., Samuel, Jonathan, Joseph and Benjamin. His daughters married into neighboring families of familiar names. Mary became the wife of Hezekiah Bonham (whom some think is rightly entitled to some of the honor of starting the Sabbatharian Society in Piscataway); Elizabeth married John Runyon and Martha was chosen as the life companion of Jeremiah Drake. Hugh Dunn, the father of these nine children, lived but five years after the public organization of the old First-day Baptist church, dying November 16, 1694.

John Smalley, another constituent member of the Piscataway Baptist church, was son of John, who came from England in the vessel "Francis and James," (1632) with Edward Winslow and others. His native home was in the same shire of the Drakes, who had lived there from the days of the Norman Conquest. His descendants found a congenial place after landing in Massachusetts, with the liberty-loving Baptists, of Rhode Island. From that colony John Smalley came to Piscataway in 1670-1. He married October 18, 1676, Lydia Martin (daughter of John), and their family consisted of sons, Jonathan, John Jr., Benjamin, Elisha, and daughters, Lydia, Martha and Phebe.

Hezekiah Bonham, to whom previous reference has been made, was another of this constituency of six brethren. It was not Nicholas Bonham, his father, as tradition has always transmitted the name, who represented the Bonham family at the foundation of the old Baptist church. Nicholas Bonham died July 20, 1684, nearly five years before the organization of the church. Hezekiah, his son, was the man, and was born in 1670, of good Puritan ancestry. His mother (Hannah Fuller) was a daughter of one of the "Mayflower" passengers, a young lad on that memorable voyage. Mr. Samuel Fuller, who was married in 1635 (April 8) by Captain Miles Standish in Plymouth Colony to Jane Lathrop, a daughter of good Parson John Lathrop, of Scituate and Barnstable churches.

Edmund Dunham was chosen deacon of the church at this time of its formal constitution. He was also a lay preacher then and subsequently, as he had been for many years before, molding the consciences and directing the religiously inclined of that primitive community. He took his part in sustaining the devotional services among pioneer families in their private dwellings. The earliest evidence of spiritual power among them was not in public organized church work, but in conscientious Christian living in families. Deacon Dunham was an active, sincere and devout leader in the primitive days of struggling for the establishment of homes and development of manly character.

However, soon after the settlement of this neighborhood, as was customary among our Colonial ancestors, they built a "Meeting House," in which both religious and secular gatherings were held at first. Piscataway was no exception to this approved custom, as the quaint old township records make mention in the following orthography:

"1685-6, January 18. Att the Towne Meeting then agreed yt there should be a meeting house built forthwith, the dimensions as followeth: 20ft. wide, 30ft. longe, and 10 ft. between joynits."

"The building committee consisting of John Fitz Randolph, John Martin, Sr., Jno. Gilman: H. Hull and Ed. Slater were ordered "to provide a house to meet in both for Towne meetings, Courts and other public business."

"Sept. 17, 1686. "Agreet yt every inhabitant of this Towne is to pay nine pence in silver towards ye buying of Nailes for ye Towne house."

"Jan. 1, 1689-90. Edward Slater, Geo. Drake and Isaac Smalley were chosen to attend to the completion of the Towne house and 'empowered to hire workmen to finish the said house."

"Mar. 2, 1690. Edmund Dunham to have ten shillings "for mending the buriele place and to sett it up with good white oake or chestnut stakes and bound with good withe."

About the time of completing this "primitive structure" the few Baptist families, constituting the influential part of the community, organized themselves into a gospel church as stated.

With no educated ministry or even trained pastors, the simple gospel truths were plainly inculcated by the three lay brethren; John Drake, Hugh Dunn and Edmund Dunham.

In a brief sketch of the early history of this Piscataway church prepared by Rev. Benjamin Stelle, while pastor of this People in 1746, (who was Justice of the Peace at the same time), it is stated that after Mr. Killingsworth planted the church, or got together the scattered believers of this religious faith, he preached the gospel to them for a time occasionally. Their number when first publicly organized in 1689 he said, was no more than six persons, and continued very small for a space of twenty years, and then began to increase.

This statement from one on the field within a generation after the Baptist standard had been erected, needs no confirmation.

Two years subsequent he (Abel Noble) met, in West Jersey, Rev. Thomas Killingsworth, an ordained Baptist minister, (at that time, also, a judge in Salem county) and pastor of the Cohansey Baptist church, organized in 1690. By him Noble was baptized. Killingsworth had emigrated to this country from Norwich, England, about the same year that Noble landed (1684). The writer has met with his name as early as 1685-6 when he was witness to a will of John Martin, of the Piscataway First-day Baptist church. Shortly after his baptism, in 1696, by the Cohansey pastor, Abel Noble became absorbed in preaching the accepted doctrines of the Baptists, and especially the sacred observance of the Seventh-day as the Scripture Sabbath.

During the years 1691 and subsequent, the Quakers in Pennsylvania and New Jersey were temporarily divided by the teachings of George Keith, a famous Quaker controversialist, and an old personal friend of Fox, Barclay and Penn. The new party following his leadership was called "Keithians," and resigned themselves to the guidance of the Scriptures. They believed in the written Word of God and instituted means of grace, in contradistinction from many of the Foxian Quakers who regarded the light within every man sufficient for his salvation, without any further aid. Following strictly the letter of the Bible, which was their guiding principle, most of this new sect had no difficulty in embracing the cardinal doctrine of the Sabbatarians of that date, and worshipped on the Seventh-day.

It was among the people unsettled in their religious convictions, at Upper Providence, (a township just outside the city of Philadelphia, to the southwest) that Abel Noble labored so zealously for converts to the faith and practice of the Seventh-day Baptists. Here he baptized (1697) in Ridley Creek, one of their number, Thomas Martin, who had been an active trustee of the Chester Quaker Meeting about ten years before. Martin subsequently baptized sixteen other Quakers, upon a public profession of their new faith. Shortly thereafter, fifteen more of the Friends were converted to Baptist sentiments and baptized into the fellowship of the brotherhood. A society was incorporated here October 12, 1697, with Thomas Martin as minister. But in 1700 a difference arose among them, as had arisen among several other mixed congregations of the Quakers, Keithians, Baptists and Lutherans, touching the Sabbath and minor doctrines. This broke up the gathering. Those adhering to the observance of the Seventh-day kept the Sabbath-day as the special day of public worship, and made it a matter of sincere conscience. The statutes in Pennsylvania on the Sabbath-observance were very mild and without severe penalties for disregard by indifferent citizens.

For the infringement of this Sunday law, it was customary for Grand Jurors to enter presentments against citizens. Numerous indictments are on record for such violation, and the following rulings are found upon the old town book of Piscataway:

Third Tuesday of December, 1692, the grand jury presents Daniel Robins for breach of Sabbath.

Third Tuesday in September, 1693, Daniel Robins, Jr., and Nathaniel Robins were presented for carting wood on the Lord's-day or Sabbath-day.

The same grand jury presents Thomas Moore, Thos. Collier and Matthew Moore for breach of the Sabbath, by pressing men on the Sabbath-day to go to Albany.

Third Tuesday of September, 1695, the grand jury presented John Laugstaff of Piscataway in the county of Middlesex, for being at several works upon the Lord's-day.

Rev. Edmund Dunham was born of Pilgrim parentage in Plymouth Colony, July 25, 1661. Of the six other children in this New England home, only two sisters, Mary and Elizabeth, lived beyond childhood. As these girls married and changed their surname the family name was handed down by the surviving son, Edmund.

These three children were early bereft of parental watchcare. Their father, Benajah Dunham, died at Piscataway, N. J., August, 1680, and the mother followed the public recognition of this organized church society (First-day Baptist) the within a few years thereafter. The father was in the prime of life, only 40 years of age, and had moved from Eastham, on Cape Cod, with his family about 1670. Rev. Benjamin Stelle (pastor of the church from 1730 till 1759) prepared a brief statement in 1746 of the early beginnings of the society as he heard the story from children and grandchildren of those composing the body originally. He says: "Their number when first settled was no more than six persons, and continued very small for a space of twenty years and then began to increase, and is since upwards of one hundred." If this first settlement referred to could mean the time of the planting of the colony by the original purchasers in December, 1666, when they took title for the land, possibly an explanation would be furnished for the statement that only "six persons" composed the church at that time. Then a further reference to the "space of twenty years" growth subsequently might be considered confirmatory of the occasionally accepted date of its public organization, as mentioned by Mr. Stelle, in the following paragraph: "About 1686 Mr. Thomas Killingsworth first planted this church and preached the gospel to them a considerable time. After his removal, the church had the ordinances of the gospel administered among them until the year 1712-15, about which time Mr. Drake was ordained, and he continued to preach until about 1729. Then, by reason of his great age, he desisted preaching, but continued to administer the ordinance."

This was the original and only regular Baptist church in New Jersey, north of the Raritan River, in the XVII. century. In those days Christian people had to travel long distances to attend public worship. The Piscataway church gathered its congregation for the first fifty years of its history from a widely-scattered population, extending over a territory of twenty or more miles, inland, reaching as far north as Morristown and westward to the Delaware River.

Edmund Dunham was one of the deacons of this church in its early formative period, and for many years an active, devout, spiritual leader of the primitive community. It is generally understood that he, with Hugh Dunn, till the latter's death in 1694, was an expounder of the Scriptures among this people, and then assisted not be very large, as the increase of popu-

John Drake as preacher of the truth for several years (till about 1700-1705), when his connection with the old church ceased. In 1710-12 it was thought wise to publicly set apart Mr. Drake to the exclusive work of the gospel ministry and ordain him officially, as pastor of the flock. This was considered the more necessary in view of important changes in the membership about this time, and a few years previous, at the formation of the Seventh-day branch.

While officiating in the important duties of expounder and deacon of the old First church (about 1700 A.D.), Edmund Dunham's religious views underwent a radical change on the question of the Fourth Commandment in the Decalogue. The story of a Seventh-day Baptist is familiar to most every reader of early church history in New Jersey. It has been a matter of tradition for many generations that he was incited to his final conclusions that the seventh day was the Scriptural Sabbath from a personal controversy which he had with his wife's brother, Hezekiah Bonham. The occasion, it will be remembered, was the performance by Mr. Bonham one Sunday of some service to or from church, probably, admonished him for violating the law of the land and prophaneing the Lord's-day by such worldly occupation. To sustain the deacon's assertion that secular labor on Sunday was desecration, Scriptural proof was demanded by Brother Bonham, and, also, that the first day of the week was holy by divine authority. Whether this reputed friendly dialogue between the brothers-in-law, as to the impropriety of doing general work on Sunday, was prompted by Mr. Bonham from serious considerations, may never be known. But surely there was no uncertainty as to the conscientious sincerity of Mr. Dunham's request to him for working on that day. It may have been a question of indifference with Mr. Bonham whether he observed the first day as the Sabbath; but not so with Mr. Dunham, for he had faithfully and devoutly worshipped all his life on the Sunday of his Pilgrim father. Mr. Bonham was supposed to be a member of the First-day Baptist church, and (unless his views had changed on the question of Sabbath-observance) he ought to have been a consistent brother. The writer knows nothing to the contrary.

ARTICLE VI

According to the earliest records preserved of the new movement, the following minute shows the initiatory steps toward a public recognition and organization:

"The Church of God keeping the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus Christ, living in Piscataway and Hopewell in the province of New Jersey, being assembled with one accord at the house of Benjamin Martin in Piscataway, the 19th day of August, 1705, we did then and with one mind choose our dearly beloved Edmund Dunham, who is faithful in the Lord, to be our elder and assistant according to the will of God, whom we did send to New England to be ordained, who was ordained at the church-meeting in Westerly, R. I., by prayer and laying on of hands by their elder, William Gibson, the 8th day of September, 1705."

After adopting an outline of doctrines embracing a few articles of faith, the following seventeen persons, besides the leader, forming the constituency of the New Seventh-day Baptist church, signed their names to the covenant:

EDMUND DUNHAM, the pastor, and his wife, Mary Bonham Dunham.
BENAJAH DUNHAM, oldest son of pastor, and his wife, Dorothy Martin Dunham (daughter of John, Jr., and Dorothy).
BENJAMIN MARTIN (first deacon, 1706) and his wife, Margaret Alston Martin.

JONATHAN MARTIN (son of first deacon) and his wife, Elizabeth Dunham Martin, daughter of the pastor.

JOHN FITZ RANDOLPH (son of Edward, of New England) and his wife, Sarah Bonham F. Randolph, sister of pastor's wife. He was also one of the constituent members of the old First-day church, 1686-9.

THOMAS FITZ RANDOLPH (brother of John) and his wife, Elizabeth Manning F. Randolph, mother of Edmund Dunham, Jr.'s wife.

HUGH DUNN (oldest son of pioneer of same name) and his wife, Elizabeth Martin Dunn (daughter of John and Dorothy).

SAMUEL DUNN (became second deacon 1724) and his wife, Esther (Martin, the writer thinks) whose children subsequently united with the church.

JOSEPH DUNN, unmarried, brother of Samuel and Hugh.

GERSHOM HULL, a young man not married till the following year. He was a cousin of Mrs. Edmund Dunham, Jr., (son of Samuel Hull.)

It is noticeable that no brother by the name of "Bonham" was on the membership roll at this beginning (1705-05). Not till a full generation afterwards does the name of Zedeiah Bonham appear as one interested in the welfare of the new church. This preliminary action was two years before they became officially a "confederated body," which, as their church minutes state and is repeated by Morgan Edwards, was "in the fourth month, 1707." Yet the year 1705 is generally the accepted date of organization.

Rev. Edmund Dunham died March 4, 1734, in the 73rd year of his age. He had made his last will on the 28th day of May, 1731, having signed and sealed the document then, in the presence of Samuel Walker, Hugh Dunn and Hugh Dunn, Jr. These witnesses personally appeared before the Surrogate April 10, 1734, and "Libert B. of Wills, page 496," to be seen in the Prerogative Court at the office of the Secretary of State, Trenton, N. J.

It may be of interest to his many descendants to read the following synopsis of this ancient manuscript:

Extracts from the last will and testament of Rev. Edmund Dunham:

"Touching such worldly Estate wherewith I hath pleased God to bless me in this Life, I give Devise and Dispose of the Same in the following manner and form:

I Give and bequeath unto my Dearly beloved wife, Mary Dunham, all my Personal Estate and also the use and Dwelling house of one end of my New Dwelling house with all the Rooms during her Widowhood."

To each one of the following sons by name he gives five shillings, viz., Benajah, Edmund, Jonathan and Ephraim.

"Item, I give and bequeath to my well beloved Daughter Mary Smalley Ten pounds Lawfull money of New Jersey.

Item, I give and bequeath to my well beloved Daughter Hannah Davis Ten pounds Lawfull money of New Jersey.

Item, I give and bequeath to my Nephew John Thomson Five pounds Lawfull money of New Jersey.

Item, I give and bequeath all my Right that I have in New England to be equally Divided amongst my children."

It may be of service for identifying a few additional grandchildren of Elder Dunham, born since his death, in 1734, if a brief outline be given of his widow's will made in 1737 and probated August 13, 1742. The following is such abstract of the last will of Mary Dunham, of Piscataway:

"I give and bequeath unto my well beloved son, Benajah Dunham, my great Bible.

I give to son, Edmund Dunham, five pounds.

I give to daughter, Hannah Davis, my bed and furniture belonging to it, and likewise my cloak and half my wearing apparel, both woollen and linen.

I give and bequeath to grandchildren, Elizabeth, Mary, James and Elisha Smalley, each, one cow, or a three-year old heifer to be put out by my executor for their advantage.

I will and ordain the remaining part of my estate shall be equally divided to all my sons and daughters, only that my grandchildren, Jonathan Martin, Junior, and Mary Sutton, shall have between them both, as much as any one of my sons or daughters."

The children born to Rev. Edmund Dunham and Mary Bonham, his wife, were eight in number, all living to be married but one, who died in infancy. The names of the four sons and three daughters are as follows, together with dates of birth and whom they married:

BENAJAH DUNHAM, born 1684, August 13, married Sept. 21, 1704, Dorothy Martin (daughter of John and Dorothy) whose children were John, Hezekiah, Benajah, Martin, Elizabeth, Mary, Esther, Priscilla, Rachel and Elisha.

ELIZABETH DUNHAM, born 1689, November 26, married Jonathan Martin (son of Benjamin and Margaret). Their surviving son was Jonathan Martin, Jr. Another child by a second marriage it is thought was Mary Sutton.

EDMUND DUNHAM, Jr., born 1691, January 15, married March 11, 1717, Dinah Fitz Randolph (daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth). Their children were Sarah, Rebecca, Nehemiah, Edmund, Dinah, Daniel, Elizabeth, Mary and Stephen.

JONATHAN DUNHAM, (Rev.) born 1694, August 16, married August 5, 1714, Jane Pyatt. Their children living to adult years and marrying were Elizabeth, Azariah (Col.) Jonathan, David, Ruth and Samuel. Isaac and Jane died at an early age.

EPHRAIM DUNHAM, born 1696, May 2, married January 26, 1715, Phebe Smalley (daughter of John and Lydia). Their children were Zeruiah, Elisha, Ephraim, Betheba, Susannah, Benjamin, Jeremiah, Phebe and Elizabeth.

MARY DUNHAM, born 1700, July 1, married, June 12, 1721, Elisha Smalley (son of John and Lydia). Their children living to adult years, were Elizabeth, Mary, Elisha and James Smalley. Lydia, Phebe and Ephraim dying in childhood.

HANNAH DUNHAM, born 1704, April 14, married March 29, 1724, Josiah Davis. Their children were Hannah, Mary, Elijah and Dorothy Davis.

THE DUNHAM FAMILY

Descendants of Rev. Edmund Dunham Through His Son Benajah, 1684-1742.

ARTICLE VII.

The children of Rev. Edmund Dunham and Mary Bonham his wife were the seven following sons and daughters: Benajah, Elizabeth, Edmund, Jonathan (Rev.), Ephraim, Mary and Hannah.

Benajah Dunham, the oldest of the children, was born August 13, 1684, in the township of Piscataway, Middlesex County, New Jersey. He married September 21, 1704, Dorothy Martin, born June 7, 1686, (daughter of John, Jr. and Dorothy). His death is recorded in 1742, August 11. For seventeen years he was town clerk of Piscataway Township 1714-1721, and was succeeded by his son, John, who occupied the same office till 1740. Benajah Dunham held other local positions of minor importance in secular town matters. In his religious affiliations, he was associated with the new Seventh-day Baptist church of Piscataway, constituted in 1705-7. He was an active member of the church from its organization. The church was the same of which his father, Rev. Edmund, was the founder and first pastor, and to which his brother Jonathan succeeded in the second pastorate.

The ten children of Benajah and Dora-thy Dunham were the following: John, Izzekiah, Benajah, Martin, Elizabeth, Mary, Esther, Priscilla, Rachel and Elisha Dunham.

The family of John, the first born, will be given in the succeeding paragraphs.

1705—JOHN DUNHAM—1740

John Dunham, son of Benajah and Dorothy, was born July 8, 1705, and married, October 23, 1729, Mercy Drake. He died in 1740-1. Their children were the five following: ELIJAH, Anna, Dorothy, Eli, born 1729, married 1761, Martha Berrien, and lived to be 88 years old, and JOHN.

DUNHAMS OF WOODBRIDGE

During the Provincial and Colonial Eras. As early in the Proprietary period of East New Jersey as 1670, reference is made in the old town book to "Jonathan Dunham, alias Singletary, and Mary his wife, formerly of Huesail in ye Massachusetts colony." It is recorded of him that grants of lands were made in his name in consideration of his building the first grist mill in Woodbridge Township during 1670-1, his toll to be 1/16 of the grist. The same year May 18 and following, Jonathan Dunham was member of a jury sitting at Elizabethtown, and in 1671 he became an influential citizen possessing sufficient acquired property holdings to entitle him to honorable political distinction. In 1701 he was chosen Deputy to the General Assembly, representing the Woodbridge district.

Ten or twelve years previous to the commencement of his Legislative duties, his occupation took him to various parts of the country. As a precautionary measure, having regard to the uncertainty of human life and considering that his absence so often from Woodbridge imperilled the safety and improvement of his property, he executed a legal document on December 12, 1689 with a preamble "being frequently abroad in parts remote," etc. By this voluntary agreement on his part, he put his property in the care of James Seaton for the benefit of his family and mentions specifically in the provisions of the paper sons Jonathan, David and Benjamin and son-in-law Samuel Smith. For the above purpose he "gave, granted and disposed of, and delivered into the possession of said James Seaton of this place all my lands in Canoe hill, fenced and improved with all other of my land near thereunto adjacent, with the whole of my remaining interest in this Town of Woodbridge as also all my stock of all sorts of cattle and swine, etc. To whom to myself he (said Seaton) shall only be liable to make answer and account, according to covenant between him and me made."

From the circumstance of his serving on jury it is evidence that Jonathan Dunham had become a holder of real estate at some previous date. Only freeholders were entitled to take such official positions. In fact the law had been laid down that all persons, though claiming ownership to realty, if they refused to patent their land, were not to have any office whatsoever, nor any voice in town meetings. No doubt made application for survey of such property as he had chosen, at the same time or thereabouts that most of the other settlers had their plots assigned them in the year 1670. It was not until August 10, 1672 that the Lords Proprietors of the Province made their official grant to him of the 213 acres set down to his name on the books. This had been surveyed December 28, 1671 "by virtue of a Warrant from the Governor." The Patent consisted of the four following "different detached parcels of land besides "one house lot lying on east side of meeting house green, 9 acres near the grist mill: 48 acres joining the Parsonage land: 120 acres of upland and swamp and 36 acres meadow not yet laid out which is his due to have." In succeeding appointments of the undivided territory he, with other settlers, obtained additional tracts. As late as May 8, 1717, when the fourth division of the public lands was made among the original freeholders, and early associates, Jonathan Dunham the pioneer drew an eight acre plot. Again in 1720 and 1721 at the fifth and sixth divisions of land, he claimed his individual shares, though this last allotment was not laid out by survey until 1763, which was many years after his death.

Reliable authority places the birth of this Jonathan Dunham, alias Singletary, at Newbury, Mass., on January 17, 1680, of parents Richard and Hannah Singletary. Why he changed his surname has not been explained. After reaching manhood and previous to his coming to Woodbridge N. J. he was accused on the Plymouth Colony Records of being a "Ranter," and disseminating corrupt religious principles among his neighbors. "Ranters" were regarded as an Antinomian sect characterized by extravagances of conduct and worship and not tolerated by the Puritan courts. Baptists and Quakers, though strictly orthodox according to scriptural interpretations at that time were denounced by similar religious courts as "offscouring of the earth"—"reformers of evil"—"abominable people." What may have been Jonathan Singletary's true character in early manhood among his New England ancestry, the writer will not further discuss. It is known that in New Jersey he was a respected and reputable citizen as Jonathan Dunham and commanded the esteem of his fellow townsmen.

Mr. Dally the Woodbridge historian has written that "this Dunham was a man of great energy. When he determined upon an enterprise he pushed it forward to success with indomitable perseverance. So many of his relatives settled north of the Kirk-Green that the neighborhood was known as Dunhamtown for many years. The old mill (built by Dunham in 1670) stood for several generations, and the comfort of many years, grinding for old timbers and mill stones used, were in existence in 1870. The residence of the Woodbridge miller was originally constructed of brick brought from Holland and used as ballast by the vessels. The house was looking for just two hundred years and stood so weird and strange that some were glad to see the builders reconstructing it, while others were sad when they saw the landmark disappear." The same year in which Jonathan Dunham acted as a foreman of jury trying his peers for violation of law, he was chosen as overseer of the Highways. This was in 1671. The following year and in 1675 he officiated as Clerk of the Township Court. His acquaintance with persons and property in Woodbridge secured him the responsible position in 1674 and again in 1694 of Assessor or Rate-maker. There may have been other minor offices held

Source for ID# 980E:

Jonathan had 3 children by first wife, 4 by 2nd and 8 by 3rd wife. Full birth dates of children were from Piscataway, Middlesex Co. NJ Vital Records.

There was much on this family in the Martin Book by Louise Martin Mohler. There were some disagreements on dates from other sources.

Will of Jonathan was dated 1768 Piscataway, Middlesex Co. NJ and listed 1/3 to wife Dinah, 1/3 to granddaughter Lydia Shotwell and 1/3 for support of son William. Land bought in Middlesex Co. NJ 29 Dec 1763 was sold and money used for support of William. After Williams death if he had no children, it was to be divided between daughter Catharine, granddaughter Elizabeth Hayden, dau of John Sutton and granddaughter Prudence. The land in Elizabethtown be divided between his daughters Martha, Anne, Elizabeth, Rachel, Catherine and Sarah. His land in Scituate divided between his sons Peter and son in law Daniel Dunham and grandsons John and Jonathan Martin, another grandson John Martin to receive 5 shillings so he could make no further claims against will.

HUSBAND - Edward Slater

*Copy of Marriage record from FamilySearch of Edward Slater and Elizabeth Bonham 9 Jan 1684 Burlington, NJ. (copy)

*Find A Grave internet site listed Edward b 1644 Piscataway, NJ and death 28 Jan 1702 age 57-58 Piscataway, Middlesex Co. NJ. No burial location. Spouse: Elizabeth Bonham 1659-1705 and 1 child listed Phoebe Slater Doty 1693-1745.

Edward had been put in prison in 1681 for speaking out against the governor. The History of Middlesex co. NJ states that Edward Slater was a freeholder in the township in 1683 and owned a large number of Acres. He was the first clerk of courts of the County.

His children listed here was: Filoretta Slater Martin (1691), Phebe Slater Doty (1693), Elizabeth Slater (1697), Abraham Slater (1700 and Aleeshia Slater (1702).

In 1699/1700 Elizabeth's sister Priscilla's Husband John Langstaff and Edward Slater were involved in anti-English, pre-Revolutionary activities. The court wanted to hold proceedings in the Piscataway Public house. The townspeople were opposed to this and nailed the door shut. The Sheriff attempted to break the door open and John and Edward stopped him forcibly.

As documented in "The Story of an Old Farm, Or, Life in New Jersey in the Eighteenth Century" by Andrew d. Mellick, published by Unionist-Gazette, 1889. (copy)

*WikiTree site listed Edwawrd Slater 1644-1702 born abt 1644 unknown, Husband of Elizabeth Bonham. Died 28 Jun 1702 Piscataqua, NJ.

Nothing has mentioned his parents and not located them or other children other then brother Samuel and nothing on him much. Here listed 6 children. His children are recorded in the Piscataway Birth Records, in Proceedidngs of the NJ Historical Society, Third Series, Vol 3 p.14

Coincidence he was listed as 14 degrees from Senator John McCain (who just died 25 Aug 2018.) 17 degrees from Victoria of the United Kingdom of Great Britain, Ireland. (copy)

Husband	Edward Slater
Wife	Elizabeth Bonham *
Notes CHILD 6 - Caleb (Edward) Slater (Continued) Although death records of Piscataway stated Edward son of Edward and Elizabeth died 1702 and not son of Edward and Mary so not sure which is correct here. Believe this son to be son of Edward and Mary. In the will of Samuel Slater, son of Edward and Mary, listed a brother Edward still living in 1711 that was under age so probably referred to this person. Even thought that Edward would have been a half brother as believe his actual brother Edward died in 1702 at same time with his father. CHILD 7 - Elizabeth Slater *Aug 2018 locate info from internet site "Geni" on Elizabeth and husband Benjamin Hull Judge. Birth date, spouse, sisters, dau of Edward Slater and Elizabeth Bonham. Nothing about children. (copy) No marriage date info from Slater or Hull family. Elizabeth married John Drake after the death of Benjamin Hull. Judge Benjamin Hull's will was abstracted from Vol 30 NJ Archives pg 254: Dated 9 Mar 1744-5 Benjamin Hull Esq, of Piscataway, Middlesex Co. NJ. His wife was executor along with brother in law Benjamin Martin and kinsman Arunah Runyon. Since the will or other sources do not list any children it may be that she and Benjamin had no children. Family group sheet from LDS library list her with parents but not with husband. Piscataway, Middlesex Co. NJ vital records. Birth, death, marriage records. Dau of Edward Slater and Elizabeth Slater-Drake Spjouse of Henry Skibbo and Mother of Ann and Lewis Skibbo, Sister of 8 sibliings. (copy) NJ Archives Birth records. Family group sheet from LDS library list her with parents but not with husband. Info from 1st Settlers of Piscataway, NJ pg 866 stated Alushia b. 29 Oct 1702 and living in 1740 and mentioned in will of Rev. John Drake. Married Henry Skibbow. (no reason why in will of Rev. Drake?)

Although death records of Pockaway stated Edward son of Edward and Elizabeth died 1703 and first son of Edward and Mary so not sure which is correct here. Believe this son to be son of Edward and Mary. In the will of Samuel Slater, son of Edward and Mary, listed a brother Edward still living in 1711 that was under age so probably referred to this person. Even though that Edward would have been a half brother as believe his actual brother Edward died in 1702 at same time with his father.
CHILD 7 - Bladen Slater
*Aug 2018 located info from internet site "Gen" on Elizabeth and husband Benjamin Hull Judge. Birth date, spouse, where, date of Edward Slater and Elizabeth Bonham. Working about children. (copy) No marriage date info from Slater or Hull family. Elizabeth married John Drake after the death of Benjamin Hull. Judge Benjamin Hull's will was abstracted from Vol 30 to Archives pg 324. Dated 9 Mar 1744-5. Benjamin Hull Esq. of Pockaway, Middlesex Co. NJ. His wife was consort along with brother in law Benjamin Martin and son-in-law Anson Runyon. HUSBAND - Zedekiah BONHAM-3294

Zedekiah Bonham was listed as husband to Anna Martin Bonham in will of Anna's father, Benjamin Martin 1755 as well as their daughter Zerviah Bonham.

Birth date for Zedekiah has been written as 1700-1707 so not sure of date. Some sources have written the name as Hezekiah but believe that is probably wrong.

Marriage date first about 1723. One daughter.

Marriage date has not been located but believe prob. before 1735 in NJ as daughter Zerviah was born 1735. Was stated Zedekiah was married first to Sarah Compton. If a daughter Sarah married Malachi Fitz Randolph 1746 she could be from first marriage, sure not from 2nd.

Death date for Zedekiah Bonham was stated from will in NJ Archives. Need to locate that to make sure children are correct.

The names of their children are very similar to those of other Martin families, which isn't uncommon but with no birth dates or other info it is hard to know if they belong with which family.
